Johnson Moves Ahead In Naval Reduction Plan

Seventy-Seven More Vessels To Be Placed In "Mothballs" During Year

REDUCTION OF 54,945 IN PERSONNEL SEEN

By DARRELL GARWOOD (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Defense Secretary Johnson plowed ahead with a sharp reduction in Naval fighting strength today, unperturbed by renewed protests over the removal of Navy Chief Adm. Louis Denfeld.

Rep. Arends (R) Ill., member of the House Armed Services Committee, demanded that his group meet "at once" to investigate the order removing Adm. Denfeld as chief of Naval operations.

Arends rejected the statement of Committee Chairman Vinson (D) Ga., that the "repeal" against Denfeld can be investigated in January when Congress reconvenes. The Illinois congressman said:

"This is a great crisis in our history. By January, many other Navy officers may be removed, and it may be too late to get things straightened out."

To Mothball 77 Vessels Johnson announced that Navy reduction will mothball 77 more vessels, including five aircraft carriers and six cruisers during the current fiscal year. Navy and Marine strength are to be reduced by 54,945 by July 1, 1950.

The final steps in the removal of Denfeld will be taken today or tomorrow when Denfeld makes his decision whether to retire or to accept "other important duties" in the Navy.

Navy Secretary Matthews announced that as soon as possible after Denfeld's decision he will transmit to President Truman the name of the man he wants as new chief of Naval operations.

Matthews is expected to recommend Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, commander of the Mediterranean fleet, as his successor.

While signs warn that the road is closed, it was found that a considerable number of motorists were using the new section of route 422 between Dixie Inn and Mt. Chestnut, on Sunday.

While weather conditions may be a little disagreeable for the opening of the small game season, which starts tomorrow, the rains over the weekend have proven a blessing, otherwise, as the woods and fields were quite dry as a result of the long spell of dry weather.

Tuesday marks the opening of the small game hunting season in Pennsylvania, and due to the strike situation it is expected that a record crowd of hunters will be in the field. Excessive care as to safety will be required on the part of the hunters. Dry weather of the past few weeks also provides another hazard, and extra precautions should be taken against starting fires.

Tonight is Halloween, and it will be a great night for the youngsters. In addition to the informal house to house visitations of masqueraders, there will be a considerable number of organized mummers parades around the county. Among the programs are those in the Seventh Ward, Ellwood City, New Wilmington, Pulaski, Hillsville, and perhaps some others. The South Side mummers parade is scheduled for Tuesday night.

Murder Charge Faced By Blonde

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31.—(INS)—A cool-headed blonde faced a formal murder charge today after police quoted her as saying she shot and killed an elderly Hollywood furrier, because "he was always making love to me and I got tired of that stuff."

Victim of the slaying was Harry La Pides, 71, whose body was found sprawled face down on a pile of expensive furs, in his Hollywood boulevard store Saturday evening. He was shot five times.

Held as his admitted killer is Patsy Rogers, a shapely 25-year-old telephone operator.

CHRYSLER PLANT TO LAY OFF 30,000

DETROIT, Oct. 31.—(INS)—The Chrysler Corporation today confirmed its plan to suspend a large part of its auto production and lay off more than 30,000 workers Friday because of the steel strike.

Marshall Aid Plan Countries Are Warned

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(INS)—ECA Boss Paul Hoffman told the Marshall Plan countries today that they must establish a unified economy for western Europe's 250,000,000 consumers or face disaster when American aid ends in 1952.

The Marshall Plan administrator told the council of the organization for European Economic Co-operation that it must sweep away all trade and exchange controls and create a large single European market to insure a healthy economy.

Presents U. S. Viewpoint

Hoffman flew to Paris from Washington to present the American viewpoint which was announced several weeks ago. At that time, Hoffman said that beginning next July all ECA allocations to Marshall Plan countries will be based on merit rather than need.

The Economic Cooperation Administrator told the OEEC in making his plea for speedy action.

"I do make this considered request that you have ready by 1950 a record of an accomplished program which together will take Europe well along the road toward economic integration."

"Unless your dollar earnings rise dramatically between now and June 1952, Europe's trade with the America's will have been balanced at so low a level that it will spell disaster for you and difficulties for us."

Heaviest Verbal Guns To Be Unlimbered At C.I.O. Convention In Cleveland

FOUR TARGETS FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION

(BULLETIN)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—(INS)—C.I.O. President Philip Murray told 800 wildly cheering delegates to the CIO national convention today that the Communists would be swept from the union's ranks.

"We are going to cleanse this movement during this convention," Murray stated. "They will not be permitted to go underground within the CIO."

By ROBERT VINCENT (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—C.I.O. President Philip Murray is expected to unlimber his heaviest verbal guns against Communist party line followers today when the labor organization opens its 11th annual constitutional convention in Cleveland.

Murray's 67-page report to the convention contains many a blast at the "small but noisy" clique which he said represented less than 10 per cent of the CIO membership of more than six million workers.

But the CIO president's keynote speech, which probably will be an "off the cuff" address, is certain to contain even more colorful language against the left wingers and single out individuals and some of the 12 unions now under attack as left wing led or under Communist influence.

Researchers Look Into Halloween Customs

By DON WINKS (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Halloween owes much of its customs and traditions today to a weird mixture of pagan ritual, medieval superstition and Christian relief which might have been brewed in a witches' cauldron.

Customs such as the waxing of windows, carving of jack-o'-lanterns, and even the tearing down of fences and other pranks are rooted firmly in history.

Original Meaning

Researchers at the World Book Encyclopedia Inc., in Chicago, said Halloween originally was a harvest festival celebrated by the Druids in Britain long before the Christian era.

From the Druids comes the belief that evil spirits roam through the hallowen night when "Sam-an," the lord of death, calls out the souls of wicked men.

The black cat—year-round symbol of bad luck—finds its mystic origin in the Druidic belief that the most wicked of these souls inhabit the bodies of cats.

The Chicago researchers trace the origin of the jack-o'-lantern to Ireland where legend says a man

The top source stated that Vishinsky has decided to cancel any further plans for a diplomatic reception on Nov. 7 in New York and that the event will be given instead by the Soviet embassy in Washington.

But Vishinsky will remain in Washington for at least two days and may see Acheson several times.

Murray Calls News Conference This Afternoon

No Confirmation Of Reports Of Progress Towards Strike Settlement

RUMOR ONE PRODUCER REACHES AGREEMENT

By PHILLIPS J. PECK (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.

—A well-informed steel man said today there is a good possibility that an agreement to end the month-long steel strike may be reached by tonight.

The spokesman indicated that an announcement will be made in Cleveland that the CIO steelworkers union and one major producer have reached settlement terms which would become a pattern for the entire strikebound industry.

Meanwhile, Carroll R. Dougherty, chairman of President Truman's steel fact finding board, proposed that the strikers go back to work while a study is made of the adequacy of the 10-cent pension-social insurance package.

Clase To Agreement

The steel official who predicted a settlement said that Bethlehem is close to an agreement with the union on a pension-insurance program.

The spokesman, who declined to be quoted by name, refused to divulge details of the expected compromise.

Government officials were cautiously optimistic, as federal mediation chief Cyrus Ching prepared to meet in Washington tomorrow with representatives of the three major steel firms.

The White House said it had no information on the brightened prospects for settlement of the steel walkout.

Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, told newsmen he knew of nothing new in either the steel or coal strikes.

Murray To Confer

CIO President Philip Murray, who also heads the United Steelworkers, scheduled an "important" news conference in Cleveland at 4 p. m. today. Murray is in Cleveland for the annual CIO convention.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel were rumored ready to take the lead toward an agreement with the steelworkers on an industry-financed, non-contributory pension and insurance program.

Dougherty, in a copyrighted interview in the magazine C. S. News and World Report, declared that adequacy of pensions "is the real

Rejects Offer Of Appointment In State Department

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS)—Rep. Mike Mansfield (D) Mont., today rejected an offer by President Truman of the post of assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

The State department post, which has charge of the "Voice of America" broadcasts, is being vacated by George V. Allen, who was named United States ambassador to Yugoslavia.

Mansfield conferred on the proposed appointment with the President and Undersecretary of State Webb this morning.

He said afterward that he had declined with "deep regret" but that he felt he could be of greater service both to the country and to his home state of Montana by remaining in Congress.

This is the night the witches ride, high in the sky on their brooms; this is the night the hobgoblins meet, down in some moldy rooms, and this is the night the kids are out, smearing your brand new car, and tapping your window with well nicked spoons, giving you quite a jar. Center Church Has Successful Homecoming Event

Church Crowded To Capacity Sunday For Homecoming And 128th Anniversary

Homecoming day at Center U. P. church Sunday proved one of the most eventful days in the 128-year history of the little white church by the side of the road in Shenango township.

Standing room only was found at each of the services conducted in connection with the delightful homecoming event, which recalled memories from as far back as six and seven decades ago. The pastor, Rev. W. F. Holmes, brought the initial sermon of the day, using appropriately "The House by the Side of the Road" as his morning theme.

The congregation, during the morning hour, rejoiced during their worship service in the recently renovated church building. Mrs. Ethel Collins and Lawrence Jordan were heard in special vocal selections. Many visitors were present for the first service in connection with the homecoming. Sunday school members aided in the celebration during their service at 10 a. m.

Afternoon Service

The afternoon service proved inspirational, as the men's chorus sang numerous selections aided by soloists. Doris Meister of this city and Leslie Kalajainen of the home church. Duets were sung by Mrs. Gertrude Hogue and Mrs. Vella Leslie. Dr. J. I. Moore, synodical superintendent, of Youngstown, and D. D. Gillespie, of the American board, from Pittsburgh, spoke. Introductory music was provided by James Maxwell, Henry Wellhausen and Harry Meyer.

Young people of the church shared a prominent part in the evening program. They participated in a Bible program from seven until eight o'clock and then moved to the choir loft, where they presented an unusual program of special music. The assembly of 28 young people were commended for their part in the celebration.

Rev. D. M. Wallace, of Hickory, former pastor of the church, was heard during the evening. Dr. J. M. Blackwood, of Wurttemberg, also brought remarks. Dean Llewellyn favored with special music. Rev. Holmes served as chairman of the day's events.

Approximately 125 enjoyed a repast in the church over the noon hour, served by the women of Center church.

Smith college was the first women's college to install an atom-smasher in the physics laboratory.

named Jack was barred from heaven because he was stingy in life.

To Carry Lantern

But, because he had played pranks on Satan during his life, he was denied admittance to hades. So Jack was condemned to carry a lantern through the streets of earth until judgment day.

The early Christian church gave halloween its name, which is a corruption of the original church title "All Hallows Eve".

Waxing windows, still a highly popular pastime—as car and store owners will testify—comes from the British "chalk a back day". On this day, children would chalk the backs of adults with circles to indicate the rule of the summer sun was over.

But the real halloween fun—the hundred-and-one pranks which children can play on adults—also owes a heavy debt to history.

Modern youngsters can thank medieval superstitions for all the bell-ringing, fence-pulling, sound-making and general horseplay permitted on halloween.

Medieval adults believed that ghosts and goblins wandered the halloween night, and placed the blame for the children's pranks on the uneasy spirits.

anean fleet. If accepted by the president, Sherman will select his own staff and complete the "cleanup" of officers accused of opposing unification.

Fleet Reduction Plan
The fleet reductions to be carried out in the next eight months—some of them already underway—will reduce Navy strength 12 percent in the Atlantic and nine percent in the Pacific.

Of the 77 vessels to be laid up, 33 are major war types. The personnel cuts will reduce strength by 44,000 Navy enlisted men, 8,845 enlisted Marines, 1,600 Navy officers and 500 aviation midshipmen.

This will bring Navy strength down to 386,000 men, and leave the Marine Corps with 75,000 men.

The aircraft carriers to be laid up include two of the 27,000 ton Essex type, the Kearsarge and the Leyte.

Nine submarines and 15 destroyers also go into mothballs.

During the same eight months period the Army will reduce by 30,000 men and the Air Force 4,000 men. The Air Force reductions are mainly the result of the successful termination of the Berlin airlift.

then told newsmen he had called President Truman and informed him of the approaching marriage.

Barkley, whose ardent courtship of Mrs. Hadley prompted many predictions about a coming marriage, was as effervescent as any youthful potential bridegroom. The vice president declared:

"You certainly ought to congratulate me. I regard myself as highly honored by the announcement. Mrs. Hadley has just made."

Barkley said President Truman announced he was "very highly pleased and offered his most sincere congratulations."

The vice president said he would stay in St. Louis until Tuesday when he will leave for Washington, Pa., for a speaking engagement.

Mrs. Hadley, who is the mother of two teen-aged daughters, was dressed in a steel-blue shantung dress with a velvet collar.

The vice president was seated in semi-formal wear.

Inform Family
The vice president called his two daughters, Mrs. Max Truitt and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, Jr., in Washington, D. C., and his son, David M.

Barkley and Mrs. Hadley said they had decided on the marriage within the last few days. They have not as yet selected an engagement ring.

Although the couple told newsmen they had not decided in what church they will be wed, observers noted they had attended St. John's Methodist church when they were in St. Louis.

The bride-to-be is the widow of Carleton S. Hadley, former counsel general for the Wahash railway, who died in 1945.

Barkley was married in 1903 to Miss Dorothy Brower of Paducah, Ky., who died in 1947.

him to the cabinet post. Stettinius was one of the youngest men ever to hold that high office.

History perhaps will record Stettinius' work as one of the chief architects of the UN as his outstanding contribution to the cause of world peace.

He left the state department shortly after Mr. Roosevelt's death. President Truman, desiring the services of an experienced politician and one who inevitably must follow the end of the war, named James F. Byrnes as Stettinius' successor.

But Stettinius continued to serve the government as personal representative of Mr. Truman on numerous missions abroad. This service continued until he accepted appointment as rector (chief executive) of his alma mater, the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville.

Stettinius suffered a heart attack last year and concern for his health had been felt ever since. He had been forced to absent himself from his office at the university for long periods.

As secretary of state, he was chairman of the U. S. delegation to the San Francisco conference in which the UN was organized in the spring of 1945, and later headed the American group at the first UN general assembly meeting in London.

William G. Leitch Expires Of Sudden Heart Attack Near Volant

William G. Leitch, aged 72 years, of 12 Pennsylvania avenue, Emsworth, Pa., died early Sunday evening of a sudden heart attack at his summer camp at R. D. 3, Volant, near Neshannock Falls, Coroner Charles E. Allen reported today.

Mr. Leitch had come to his summer home to make preparations for the hunting season with a group of friends earlier in the day. He seemed in good health and spirits during the afternoon, and had gone to an apple tree on his property to pick some apples. When he did not return as soon as expected, friends started a search and found his lifeless body.

The body was removed to the McDonald funeral home at Avalon, Pa., in preparation for burial.

An arrangement of yellow mums, flanked by yellow tapers, centered the tastefully decorated table, where refreshments were served. Mrs. Jennie Tait and Mrs. John Kocher poured in the afternoon while Mrs. William Williams and Mrs. Milton Book presided at the tea table in the evening. Members of Section A of the Y. L. COMPARE THE CANDIDATES AND YOU'LL VOTE REPUBLICAN

E. GENE SCHWEINSBERG

JAMES GIBSON

E. Gene Schweinsberg is a young business man and a veteran of World War Two. He is one of the two Republican candidates for city council.

Gene got into the war early—and came out early. He came out early because of wounds received in Kasserine Pass in North Africa. He decided to become a candidate, not because he had been a soldier but because he believed that a man who had fought for his country should be willing to work for his country and his community in peace time.

He is one of the younger businessmen of the city. He knows business practice, he knows the value of a dollar. This business training and experience he is prepared to use as a city councilman if elected November 8.

The business of handling your tax money calls for judgment, sound business judgment. This judgment Gene Schweinsberg has. Elect him and you elect a young man with a young man's vision and courage.

These are the two Republican candidates for city council. Compare them with the candidates of the Democratic party. Have either of the opposing candidates shown any record or any aptitude for public service? Can they point to either business experience or achievement in the past such as would warrant their election to council? Which one do you think would take charge of the streets, which the purchasing department? All we ask is that you compare the candidates. If you do, we are confident you will vote Republican.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The importance of personality in the tangled political structure of present-day France was driven home clearly when the nation turned to Georges Bidault for solution of its most prolonged cabinet crisis in half a century.

Bidault takes over where Jules Moch, hard-hitting minister of the interior, and quiet, soft-spoken Justice Minister Rene Mayer

He will appear before the national assembly on Tuesday next with a carefully-picked cabinet that contains no new or unfamiliar names and unless the experts are all wrong, he will re-establish government solidarity at a moment when it is vitally needed.

Played Important Part
Bidault was almost the first of the post-war French resistance to attain high political position after the second world war and he played a greater part than any other man in re-establishing a vanished France to a high and respected place among nations.

As foreign minister, he was a prime mover in application of the Marshall Plan to France and in the evolution of such far-reaching inter-European measures as the North Atlantic Defense Pact, the western military union and the council of Europe.

And he made a great and lasting impression on his visits to the United States, where a fluent command of English and a ready wit caused him to be called on occasion "more American than French."

Tremendous Contribution
Bidault made a tremendous contribution to American understanding of his country's position at one news conference in New York when questioners piled him on the subject of communism.

It was at a moment when Italian communists were providing a grave menace to the western democratic system in Europe and the Catholic church was just beginning to marshal its forces against Italy's "men from Moscow."

There was great fear throughout the world that if the communists succeeded in Italy, France would normally and logically be the next on their list.

Bidault discounted such fears almost in their entirety. But reporters pressed him mercilessly, emphasizing communist strength in the French confederation of labor, the wave of communist-led strikes that was prevalent at the time and the undoubted fact that many millions of Frenchmen vote communist even though they may not belong to the party.

Bidault Explains
In explanation, Bidault pointed out that France for ages has had an extreme liberal wing in its political picture.

He said that French communism has presented itself as the "advance guard" of 20th century liberalism. As a result, it has attracted many persons who believe not in communist precepts as such but in the untrammelled processes of free thinking which is supposed to be a fundamental Marxist tenet.

He explained further that politics among the French people frequently is a family affair. A man is a socialist because his father and grandfather were socialists; he is a Catholic conservative because that was his upbringing.

Dispells Mistrust
Thus Bidault, while never deprecating the menacing aspects of militant communism as voiced by such men as Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos, did much to dispel a feeling of mistrust. He recognized that the United States would be ill disposed to pour funds and armaments into a nation that any day might become a Soviet satellite, and major strides in French recovery had resulted.

Even if his government passes muster before the national assembly, Bidault still faces a tremendous task.

He must tackle grave economic problems and bring about some equitation of salary and wage disturbance which have followed devaluation of the pound and franc.

He has to settle labor demands for shorter hours without handicapping essential production. And he has to move fast to make up for the 23 days of hiatus when France was without a government and consequently without an effective voice in world affairs.

Together with his pleasing personality, Bidault has tremendous vigor. His exploits in the underground show that he also has audacity and initiative. His selection as premier seems to have met with tentative approval and he comes back upon the scene at a time of magnificent opportunity.

One Man's Opinion
By Walter Kiernan
(By International News Service)

It's hard to understand why the government did not seize the steel industry two weeks ago. They know that Phil Murray likes to have his annual victory speech ready at least two weeks before the CIO convention.

It was expected that the usual process would be followed: seize the steel strike, seize the industry, raise the flag, grant the demands, lower the flag, release the companies to their owners and say "you take it from there."

This is what is known as "the democratic process" under which labor has thrived to such an extent that we now have three labor movements where we once had only one.

Within another few years it may also be necessary to set up a couple of more groups of capital. There's still only one.

Anyway I hear the air force and the navy have observers at the CIO convention. They want to see how this brotherhood movement turns out.

They Say
GENEVA, N. Y.—Sen. John Foster Dulles (R-N.Y.): "If I don't get back there, the chances are there will be an end to this bipartisan foreign policy."

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y.—Democratic senatorial candidate Herbert Lehman, referring to his opponent, Sen. John Foster Dulles (R-N.Y.): "Mr. Dulles in the role of 'the indispensable man' is hopelessly miscast."

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Eugene Anderson, on taking the oath of office as ambassador to Denmark: "I will be proud to represent my people, my country and my great democratic government, and I am happy that I am going to another great democracy."

NEW YORK—Federal mediation director Cyrus S. Ching, commenting on efforts to end the steel strike: "If anything can be accomplished, we are willing to go anywhere in the United States. We are working a lot of angles and not ignoring anything."

Area Of Speculation
This is one area of speculation about the busy but unobtrusive Russian agronomists. Another lies in an amazing theory which seems imbedded within the 15-year plan itself. American soil-scientists know that forestation can lessen the ravages of weather by combating erosion and imprisoning the moisture of rainfall. But the Russians evidently have a theory that weather can be actually influenced or even controlled by the proper planting of trees. Implied in their 1950-55 planning is—certainly seems to be—the daring thought that trees can be used as rain-makers and thus as the eventual abolishers of drought.

Not too long ago American agronomists used to toy with the same blessed thought. Some of the early tree planting in the Nebraska territory was done in the hope of controlling rainfall. But the region has since undergone two devastating periods of drought—in the 1890s and 1930s—so that the rain-making theory was pretty well exploded.

But why do the Russians still cling to it? The rain-making notion is an ancient dream of man and was present in nearly all primitive agrarian civilizations. It is easy to say that this explains the Russian persistence in the old belief, and to dismiss it as the superstition of an unenlightened people. Yet to do this we have to ignore the long and solid reputation which Russian agronomists have established and which is written into the nomenclature of the soils in our own Missouri Basin.

Much Better Way
A much better way and a more scientific approach to the matter would be to maintain an open mind and an avid curiosity. There must still be more things in heaven and earth than were ever dreamed of by American scientists exclusively.

Behind the Iron Curtain, as we often forget, lies Mother Russia—the great land mass which has supported millions of live-and-let-live peasants. Their czars and commissars have often herded them off to war, but basically these patient people belong to the soil and understand it. Their 15-year plan may very well turn out to be another failure, ending in famine and disaster. But there is also the chance that Russian soil-scientists, working in relative silence, have discovered how to make a genuine miracle in agriculture.

HALLOWEEN
Opening the door tonight
I shall jump away in fright.
And if that is wrong I'm asked,
I shall say: "A pirate masked
Shouted, as once pirates did:
'Where've you got the booty hid?'"

Halloween! The time that brings
Terror when the doorbell rings.
Ghosts and goblins, robed in white,
Moan like the wind at night
Chill all grandpas with dismay.
Which is why their hair is gray.
Little beggars, sad to see,
Holding baskets out to me.
Pleading: "Help the poor!"
I'll meet.
"Come!" I'll say. "Come in and eat!"
We have cookies made for you."

Still it's fun when you've grown old
Entertaining pirates bold.
Lucky he who plays the host
To a little lady ghost.
Old? That isn't what I mean.
No one's old on Halloween.

Doctor's Dilemma

Mother Russia's Secret

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31.—Why do Russian propagandists seldom if ever boast about the wonders of their agriculture? This is not an idle question. At the moment it greatly intrigues a group of thinkers in our own Agriculture department. Soviet puff-sheets, as we know, have made some lavish claims about the hitherto unknown supremacy of Russian musicians, inventions and economists. So why the deliberate silence in the realm of agriculture?

All the more fascinating is one science about which the Russians could legitimately boast. I have before me a map of the Missouri Basin, showing the seven various kinds of soil in this huge nine-state region. Of the seven soil types four of them are designated by Russian terms. This is because Russian agronomists did actually discover and give their names to these soil-type in the years before the Red revolution.

Embarrassing Fact
Among the world-renowned Russian soil scientists is a name generally hushed up in Soviet publications. The name is V. R. Williams. It belonged to the son of a British agronomist who migrated to Petrograd in the 1790s, married a Russian girl and raised a family by this capitalistic name of Williams.

This embarrassing fact may be a minor reason why Stalinist press agents like to talk about everything else but agriculture. But there could be other and more revealing reasons. Last year the Soviet ministry of agriculture undertook a mammoth 15-year plan for conservation and forestation. It calls for the planting of eight large forest belts, covering a total length of 3295 miles, a staggering distance to contemplate in terms of trees. In addition there is to be a wholesale revision of grass-crop rotation throughout the whole area of some 14 million acres.

Since the huge plan will get under way next year and not mature until 1965, where does this scheme work into the Soviet timetable for war and peace? Whatever else they are, the Soviet leaders are not fools. Since they have the choice about making war, it seems unlikely that they would undertake more than one giant national project at a time.

Area Of Speculation
This is one area of speculation about the busy but unobtrusive Russian agronomists. Another lies in an amazing theory which seems imbedded within the 15-year plan itself. American soil-scientists know that forestation can lessen the ravages of weather by combating erosion and imprisoning the moisture of rainfall. But the Russians evidently have a theory that weather can be actually influenced or even controlled by the proper planting of trees. Implied in their 1950-55 planning is—certainly seems to be—the daring

But why do the Russians still cling to it? The rain-making notion is an ancient dream of man and was present in nearly all primitive agrarian civilizations. It is easy to say that this explains the Russian persistence in the old belief, and to dismiss it as the superstition of an unenlightened people. Yet to do this we have to ignore the long and solid reputation which Russian agronomists have established and which is written into the nomenclature of the soils in our own Missouri Basin.

Much Better Way
A much better way and a more scientific approach to the matter would be to maintain an open mind and an avid curiosity. There must still be more things in heaven and earth than were ever dreamed of by American scientists exclusively.

Behind the Iron Curtain, as we often forget, lies Mother Russia—the great land mass which has supported millions of live-and-let-live peasants. Their czars and commissars have often herded them off to war, but basically these patient people belong to the soil and understand it. Their 15-year plan may very well turn out to be another failure, ending in famine and disaster. But there is also the chance that Russian soil-scientists, working in relative silence, have discovered how to make a genuine miracle in agriculture.

Looking At Life
By ERICH BRANDEIS

When a newspaperman asked Mr. Truman about his general policies and philosophies, the President referred him in reply to the fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of St. Matthew.

It may be taken for granted that all of you are familiar with the Gospel of St. Matthew and particularly with the three chapters referred to by the President.

If not, please refresh your memories and ponder what you read.

Any man or woman who could get through life according to this gospel would certainly be more perfect than any human being I have ever known.

Not having been present at the interview, I am sure that Mr. Truman meant only that he is trying to live according to Matthew and not that he is actually doing it.

In certain respects, however, the President is living according to Matthew.

For instance, in Verse 16 of the Fifth chapter it says, "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works." That Mr. Truman does in ample measure.

On the other hand, in Verse 44 of the same chapter it is written, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you." That I am afraid, Mr. Truman does not do.

Again I say, as I have said before, this is not a political column. But neither is the Bible a political book, and when the President of my country quotes or refers to the Book which is mine as well as his,

I have a right to analyze him with you.

The first Verse of the Sixth Chapter admonishes: "Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them." and in the second verse it goes on, "Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do, in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men."

When observing some of the appointments made by our President and the "sounding of trumpet" that goes with them, I wonder how sincere he really is about the gospel of St. Matthew.

Incidentally, as long as I am on the matter of appointments, may I just quote one more verse, (Verse 15) of the seventh Chapter: "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves."

By the way, as I was re-reading the chapters referred to by the President and kept on reading past them, I was again impressed with the Book's wisdom, not just its religious wisdom, but with its practical philosophy.

This Book, conceived centuries ago, deals with every human problem that can possibly confront us. One more I repeat—make your religion and your Bible part of your life rather than just a Sunday duty—and you will soon get much more out of life and understand life's values ever so much better.

If that is what the President meant in his interview, my hat is off to him.

THE NEED GOES ON

The usual response to the appeal of the Community Chest seems to be lacking this year. With little more than a week left of the original time limit set, the drive total is hardly more than fifty per cent subscribed.

This is not the spirit of New Castle, that New Castle should lag in a drive as vital as the Community Chest is entirely foreign to our tradition in this city.

There's a reason of course but frankly the reason seems to be a rather flimsy one. Too many people have advanced the present steel and coal strikes as the reason for not contributing.

But is it a good reason?

True, the steel and coal strikes have slowed the economic progress of the nation but the strikes are not permanent. They will certainly end.

New Castle has felt the lash of the strikes but nothing at all like other cities in Pennsylvania and Ohio. There is not a plant in New Castle on strike, although it must be said, workers in some lines have been furloughed because of lack of steel, coal or orders.

Contributions need not be paid today or next week. They can be paid over a period of months. They can be paid in installments.

In the meantime the work of the 13 agencies in the Chest must go on and the need continues. The agencies are on a year round schedule ministering to the needs of our people.

Frankly, too many of our people have a defeatist attitude in this campaign. People who have been untouched thus far by the strikes certainly have no reason for not contributing. Yet many of them advance the strikes as the reason for their refusal.

It is unthinkable that the appeal of these 13 agencies should go unheeded or that the campaign should not be a success. We cannot turn a deaf ear to the appeal, we must fulfill our obligations to the needy.

The strikes will end but the need will continue. Let's be realistic about this campaign. And generous.

HOW MUCH?

Getting the American people to realize how much is $42,000,000,000—the total of federal government expenditures in one year—is a sizable task. A statistician of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company has tried to simplify it.

Forty-two billions is a stack of $10 bills 240 miles high. It is the combined wages of a million manufacturing workers for 15 years, double the total annual receipts of America's farms, more than the American government spent in World War I, more than the government spent in its 142 years from 1776 through 1917.

Forty-two billions is more than one-sixth of the total annual income of the American people. It is $700 per American worker and $1,050 per American family. Spending $42,000,000,000 in a year is at the rate of $80,000 a minute for 24 hours a day, seven days a week for 52 weeks.

When a schoolboy asked his father how much is a million dollars, he replied, "Son, a million dollars is a hell of a lot of money." Forty-two billions is forty-two thousand millions.

ATOMIC PROGRESS

Can Americans be sure that Russia is not making faster progress than this country is in the development of nuclear energy? The six Republican Congressmen—Senators and Representatives—who made the latest charges against the Atomic Energy Commission did not put that question so bluntly. But their minority report as members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission is enough to raise the question in all seriousness.

The 10 Democratic members of the committee have given blanket approval to the AEC, its program of experiment and development, and its approach to the problem of secrecy. This verdict had all the earmarks of a whitewash.

There seems to be no longer doubt that security measures have been loosely administered. Remaining secrets at this late date are the details of how a given atomic operation in a plant or laboratory works. Whether a certain valve should be at this point or that; what sort of valve is best—details like these are the result of long, hard work and must be protected.

Waste is charged in the atomic program, and though a certain amount of wasted money and time must be expected in the combination of great operations and great experiments in this new field, unnecessary waste will result in delay and cannot be tolerated.

The charge that the AEC is not going all out in building up reserves of atomic materials bears looking into by Congress. If there is unnecessary delay, the reason for it should be ascertained and necessary steps taken to see that it ends.

It is hard to recall that once there were words and pictures "not fit to print."

Russia has a new scheme for A-bomb control—give up yours, and we'll keep ours.

Bolivia's president is resigning on account of ill health. Being president in any country these days is a job almost beyond normal endurance.

Great Game Of Politics

Successor To Dr. Nourse

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.

BY THE time this is printed, the President may have filled the vacancy in his Economic Advisory Council caused by the resignation of its chairman, the high-minded, clear-headed and well-equipped Dr. Edwin G. Nourse. Possibly he will announce the name of an outstanding man in the economic field without regard to whether he is an advocate of the "Welfare State," a believer in deficit financing and such legislative monstrosities as the Brannan plan.

BUT, if he does, he certainly will bitterly disappoint the ardent young "liberals," both of journalism and politics, who worked so long and diligently to get Dr. Nourse out and who feel that if now he should be succeeded by a man holding the same old-fashioned view that debts and deficit are as undesirable for a nation as for an individual, they will have lost a great battle for God and country. Their idea, of course, is Mr. Leon Keyserling, who with his colleague, Mr. John Clark, has consistently run contrary to the Nourse economic theories and philosophies but had more influence with the President—possibly because they are more in tune with his left wing, three-thumbed program.

THE Messrs. Keyserling and Clark have no standing among economists generally comparable to that of Dr. Nourse, but they far overshadow the doctor as propagandists for, and promoters of, the "modern thought" which is completely unappalled by the size of debts or the depths of deficits. If, as confidently predicted by the above-mentioned journalistic and political "liberals," the President either makes Mr. Keyserling chairman of the council or nominates a man in sympathy with the Keyserling advanced views, his economics advisers would then be 100 per cent "modern" and in the whole administration there would not be a single man to sound a warning or to raise his voice against unrestricted Federal spending and the "Welfare State." That is the goal, and unless Mr. Truman lets the whole group down it will be achieved.

ONE supporting columnist asserts "it is incredible that the President will replace Dr. Nourse with another man so completely out of step with Fair Deal 'social-political thinking.'" Incidentally, if Mr. Keyserling does not want the impression conveyed that such columnists themselves attune with him on "social-political thinking" do not get their inspiration and information from him, he ought to urge them to be a little less open and only in their phraseology. One reason Mr. Truman may have trouble in meeting the wishes of this group is that it is anything but easy to find a really sound and recognized economist who does that kind of "social-political thinking." Most economists of standing in their profession think along the Nourse lines. Mostly the Fair Deal economists are of the jobholder type with a slight political flavor to their economics.

HOWEVER, the President may disregard considerations of competency and quality in this appointment just as he did in his two recent selections for the Federal Power and Federal Trade commissions. The appointment of ex-Senator Mon Wallgren to the first, and ex-Senator James Meade to the second, were outstanding examples of a patronage policy that elevates politics and personal friendship above fitness and character. Pals of the President, it would be difficult to find two more complete mediocrities on the upper levels in public life. So far as they think economically at all, it is quite certain that this would imply a deep-seated conviction on their part, but merely that it would be difficult to conceive either of them holding contrary views on any public issue to those cherished by Mr. Truman or any other White House Democrat to whom they owed their appointment.

IT IS, of course, entirely natural for Mr. Truman to want men on these boards who are in accord with his own "social-political thinking," and for his program. So long as they are recent and competent, no one has a right to criticize him for manning his administration with men of his own party and way of thought. It would be absurd for him not to do so. However, this does not seem to apply to the Economic Advisory Council. That board was created in order that the President should have advice on economic affairs from the best available economic brains in the country.

IF HE is to get this, it would seem necessary to have as members of the council nonpolitical and nonpartisan men whose views would be based on facts and not theories. To limit memberships on this board to those "economists" who think only on "Fair Deal" lines would seem to nullify the whole idea of disinterested and worthy advice. It would seem to make the board merely a political adjunct to the administration. Certainly, a board of that character could be of no real use to a President who valued advice. Even at the risk of causing pain to those "liberal" forecasters who think it incredible Mr. Truman should replace Dr. Nourse with a man not wholly in tune with "Fair Deal social-political thinking," it would appear both in his own interests and that of the country, not to make that a qualification. Perhaps he will see this. There is always hope.

Children Cause Auto Accident

When one of a group of children threw something beneath the car of Paul J. Colucci, Park Gate, Youngstown, at 7 p. m. Saturday night, he applied the brakes quickly believing one of the children had been struck by his car in South Jefferson street. Edward Hill, Moravia street, who was driving a car in the rear of Colucci's auto, could not stop his car in time to avoid hitting the rear end of the Colucci car. Both vehicles were damaged, according to police.

Boy Is Wounded By Bullet Fired In Halloween Prank

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 31.—(INS)—A 14-year-old youngster, shot in the eye while making Halloween faces outside a Pompton Plains, N. J., hardware store, was winning a fight for his life today.

In Paterson General Hospital, the condition of David Worden, of Pompton Plains, changed from serious to "fairly good."

Young Worden was wounded in a freak accident, police said.

A clerk inside the hardware store, which was closed at the time, decided to scare the grinning boy.

Patrolman Edward Kough said the clerk, Warren Hopper, 18, picked up a .22 caliber rifle and loaded it from a box of blank shells last night.

Hopper fired one blank. He reloaded and fired again. This time, instead of a blank, a live cartridge had got into the rifle chamber. The bullet went through the window glass and hit young Worden. Kough said he examined the rest of the box from which Hopper picked the shells and found all blanks. The shooting was listed as accidental and no charges were placed.

Scouts' Own Is Observed Sunday

Local Troops Join In Activities Of National Girl Scout Week

Effective as well as inspirational was the Scout's Own service conducted Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the grounds of the Glenmore school property with parents of Girl Scouts and friends of scouting in attendance. The service was a part of the observance of National Girl Scout Week. Many of the girls attended the churches of their choice on Sunday.

The script for the program was written by Mrs. D. B. Forsyth, executive director of New Castle Girl Scouts. Moving pictures of the presentation, taken by Glenn Montgomery, will be shown at a later time.

After the singing of "Taps," by the choir, composed of senior scouts, the story of the origin of our country's flag was given by Martha Rainey, who served as mistress of ceremonies. After the colors were presented by the color guards, the audience joined with the scouts and Brownie Scouts in giving the pledge of allegiance to our flag and also sang the National Anthem.

Impressive Ceremony
Impressive was the ceremony of disposing of a national flag that was worn-out. Miss Emily Rice, Girl Scout commissioner, first cut the union from the flag and then the remainder of the flag was cut into two pieces before being cremated or burned in a large ceremonial fire. The choir sang "Rise Up, O Flame." Ten service fires were then lighted from the large fire with appropriate ceremonies. As each service fire was lighted, a scout told what it symbolized, the first one telling of the founder of scouting, Juliette Gordon Low. Those taking part in lighting the service fires, follow: Saralee Gerson, Marlene Williams, Nancy Reebie, Tony Dingley, Lillian Armstrong, Nancy Campbell, Peggy Matthews, Eleanor Schoenberger, Carolyn Natcher and Melinda Bishop.

Renew Promises
The Brownie Scouts gave their promise and also their prayer. The Girl Scouts also renewed their promise and repeated their prayer. "When'er You Make A Promise" was sung. The "Hymn of Scouting" and "Prayer for Peace" were also sung. The service fires represented the light of scouting, loyalty, friendship, service, courtesy, kindness, obedience, cheerfulness, thriftiness and cleanliness. The singing of "Girl Scouts Together" closed this part of the ceremony. Then each of the Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts with a lighted candle left the grounds by forming in a line. Especially effective were the lighted candles against the background of the dusk of an autumn evening. This part of the service symbolized the taking of light into the darkness to brighten our homes, our country and the world. Mrs. Forsyth and Miss Rice also lighted their candles and joined the girls in their procession.

The committee responsible for the outdoor service follows: Mrs. N. J. McCluskey, Mrs. Harry Wettich, Mrs. C. M. Booher, Mrs. Louis Colter, Mrs. S. G. McCullough, Mrs. Ralph Engel, Mrs. P. D. Gibson and Mrs. R. J. Cartwright.

Singing Evangelist At Drake Church

Two weeks of special meetings will be conducted in the Drake Gospel Tabernacle at No. 2 Mine with Rev. Benjamin Jenkins of this city speaking. The series starts tonight at 7:30 o'clock and will continue until November 13. Rev. H. A. Polding, pastor of the church will be in charge of the series. Rev. Jenkins will preface his sermons by singing of old-time Gospel hymns aided at the piano by Mrs. Jenkins.

No services are planned on Saturday, with the party taking part in the Leesburg Youth for Christ on November 5.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERE

When Gen. Charles de Gaulle's star was in the ascendant in France, Andre Malraux, the famous author of Man's Fate, joined his party. A year ago it seemed inevitable that De Gaulle would soon rule all of France, and Malraux was jubilant. The Marshall Plan, however, seems to have put at least a temporary crimp in the De Gaulle boom. Malraux, impatient at the delay, is reported to have reminded his chief, "We espoused your cause to see you cross the Rubicon—not to fish in it!"

In Chicago, a determined old dowager sailed into the Carson Pirie and Scott book department and demanded a complete set of Dickens and a complete set of Scott. "I don't care about the bindings and I don't care about the price; just find me the cheapest sets you can," she told the astonished clerk. "You see, I have to have them. I've left them to my grandchild in my will."

JOE HIT HARD

Joe was champion for a long time. He hit hard in more ways than one.
He may have not had a very good chance but he took advantage of his opportunities.
Disease hits hard too. It is a hard job to fight disease. It is right in there fighting all the time.
The least little slip and down you go. Joe kept himself in good condition so that he could take a hard wallop.
In fighting disease, prevention is better than cure. Vaccination and shots and good food and rest and education and work and Sunday school and family reunions and playgrounds all help to keep us in good condition to stand the battle.

Theatre-Shopping Center For North Hill

SKETCH OF PROPOSED NORTH HILL SHOPPING CENTER

New Castle's north hill district will come next spring, have a new shopping center, valued at $175,000.

Four local business men are making this enterprise a possibility. Located two and a half miles from the downtown area, the Center will be at the end of Highland avenue, in Neshannock township on the right hand side of Highland (going north).

Two units are planned in this project. The first to be eight stores in individual rooms, under one roof. The other will be an indoor theatre—the second unit. Spanning an area of 140 feet in length and 32 feet wide, the store-rooms will include, diversified businesses such as a drug store, hardware, dry cleaning shop, dairy bar, meat and grocery store, sporting goods store, and a lingerie shop for women.

Each store room will be partitioned, the space covering 17½ feet by 30 feet.

Construction for the store room unit is already underway, and hope has been expressed by the co-owners, Joseph Glorioso John Favo-

Wineck, that it will be completed by Christmas. The theatre cannot be built until next spring, and at that time the entire new shopping center will be completed.

Theatre Planned

The indoor theatre will face Highland avenue, and will be 160 feet in length and 40 feet wide.

Approximately 750 new "push back" seats will be installed for the convenience of movie goers. It is stated, Gone are the days of getting up and down to permit other patrons to reach their seat.

Perhaps what will be most welcome by both audience and mothers with babies, will be a modern sound-proof, "crying room." Here mothers will be able to see the movie and still be with their infants, should the little one get a crying jag.

Five offices will occupy the space above the store rooms near the theatre entrance. And that never ending problem of parking is not forgotten in this instance, for in the rear of the center area a parking lot accommodating 200 cars will be at the patron's disposal.

The idea for this up-to-date shopping center is not a new one for the local co-owner. Success of such similar units in southern Florida gave these men an idea to "come home" and do the same here.

Herb Robinson and Associates are the construction engineers.

Mr. Glorioso and Mr. Favorite are not new to business, for they are co-owners of the Blue Sky drive in theatre in Ellwood City. Both Mr. Tate and Mr. Wineck are owners of the Highway 51 drive-in theatre, between Beaver Falls and Darlington.

Thus, having both business capabilities and the interest of New Castle, at heart, the four men will endeavor to add one more fine achievement to the long line of New Castle's "bests."

Yeggs Fail To Open Safe

John G. Moore, city detective, dusts the front of a safe in a search for fingerprints. The safe, property of Fisher's Furniture store on Long avenue, had the combination knob knocked off in an attempt to crack the safe early this morning.

Martin Haber, manager of Fisher's Furniture store, Long avenue, points out to city policeman, Clark Davis, where safe-crackers forced an entrance in an attempt to break into a safe at the store.

Safe-crackers knocked off the combination and pounded a drift pin into a safe at Fisher's Furniture store, 1 East Long avenue, but failed to break into the safe last night, according to report of city police.

Patrolman William Birt at 4 a. m. today found a window had been forced open at the South Jefferson side of the building. The window leads into the office. Frank Haber of 215 Hazlecroft avenue, of the firm, was summoned and the attempt to break into the safe was discovered. The yeggs failed to loot a cash register which was in another portion of the structure. It contained a small amount of money, Mr. Haber reported.

Detective John Moore and Patrolman Clark Davis studied the safe for fingerprints this morning but were unable to discover any legible prints, Moore stated.

Conservation Group Elects

Harry M. Thomson, Of Pulaski Township, Named To Succeed Fulkman

COMMITTEEMEN AND DIRECTORS NAMED

Harry M. Thomson, of Pulaski township, was elected chairman of the Lawrence County Agricultural Conservation Association, at the annual election held last week, succeeding Dorris L. Fulkman, who has been chairman for the past ten years.

Election of committeemen was held during the week of October 10, and the delegates named to select the county committee, had their election last week. In addition to naming Thomson as chairman, they re-elected W. Carl Hilleman of Wilmington township, vice chairman, and Frank Forbes, of Scott township, as the other member of the county committee. Miss Catherine Batt is secretary.

During Mr. Fulkman's term of office, the program of the Conservation body has been greatly enlarged, finding more farmers in the county participating in the national program of soil building. Last year, 29,000 tons of lime were applied to county farms, in addition to fertilizer.

The objective of the organization, part of the national program, is to enrich existing soil on farms, reclaim waste land through drainage, improve old pastures, etc. The program was started in 1936, and farmers participate on a voluntary basis, those subscribing to the program receiving their proportionate share of the national appropriation.

Committeemen Named
Committeemen who were elected to serve during the coming year are as follows:

Pulaski—R. W. Allison, chairman; Donald Whiting and Bill Stewart. Scott—Jesse Brown, chairman; S. A. Locke and Howard Glenn. Shenango and Taylor—Joseph Fell, chairman; Glenn Budger and Walter Kendall. Perry and Wayne—Clair Stettler, chairman; William Walton and William Duncan. MURRAY CALLS NEWS CONFERENCE THIS AFTERNOON criticism of the fact-finding board's recommendations—not whether the plan is "contributory" or "non-contributory".

He said:

Urges Joint Study
"There is nothing sacrosanct, for instance, about the word 'contributory' or 'non-contributory'. We used them both in the report and yet the real purpose is to provide adequate social insurance and adequate pension by whatever method the parties themselves agree is likely to provide the desired result."

Daughterly said the fact-finders believed that a joint study should be made first and that the question of benefits in relation to contributions should not be decided until about April 1, 1950, when the present steel contract expires. Ching also prepared to meet with John L. Lewis and representatives of the coal operators later in the week. He dropped peace efforts in the coal strike temporarily to concentrate on steel.

Rumor Settlement Imminent
Cleveland, Oct. 31.—A rumored imminent settlement of the month-old steel strike spread through Cleveland today as the CIO opened its 11th national constitutional convention.

So persistent were the reports that they stole the interest of the 800 delegates from CIO President Philip Murray's newest blast at left-wing elements within the party.

Murray—who also heads the half-million United Steelworkers—has scheduled a news conference for 4 p. m. (EST) to discuss the "steel situation". His aide said the conference would be "important".

Some Reports
Some sources said that Bethlehem Steel, second largest of the "big four" steel companies, had agreed to industry-financed, non-contributory pensions. Murray has claimed that refusal of "big steel" to go along with this recommendation of the steel fact-finding board precipitated the steel strike.

Republic Steel, No. 3 in size, also was rumored ready to settle. If these companies reach agreement it was deemed likely that U. S. Steel, the biggest of them all, and Jones & Laughlin would follow suit.

State Dean Acheson on this afternoon's program is likely to set the stage for the attack on the left wingers.

One of the sore spots between the left wing and right wing elements in the CIO is due to the failure of the leftists to endorse this country's—and Acheson's—foreign policy, including the Marshall Plan.

More than 600 delegates are attending the convention.

Murray reported that the CIO today is stronger than ever with its newest baby, the communication workers, now boasting more than 300,000 members.

The CIO, he said, won 2,102 of 2,153 union security elections which it had asked and 1,017 of 1,850 union representation elections conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Targets For Action
Targets for disciplinary action are four main so-called leftists unions, which the right wingers charge are under Communist influence. They are Harry Bridges' Longshoremen's union, the United Electrical Workers Union, led by Albert Fitzgerald; the Farm Equipment Workers, and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

These four unions are scheduled for housecleaning of left-wing leadership or face expulsion. If they are expelled under the right wing program previously announced, their charters probably will be revoked and turned over to rightists in their ranks to reorganize with the CIO's blessing.

The other eight left-wing unions probably will be subjected to lesser penalties, in some cases orders to merge with other right wing controlled unions.

Murray indicated yesterday that last minute attempts of the Longshoremen's union and the UEW to bid for leniency have not softened the plan for a so-called purge.

TOKEN AGREEMENT ON ATOM CONTROL WILL BE SOUGHT

great difficulties" in the way of such an interim ban. He stressed that the main obstacle lies in Russia's unwillingness to agree to any control step which would lift the "iron curtain" to U. N. inspection teams.

Initial Test Near
The initial test on possible atom control will come within a few days in both the political committee and the special political committee. The former is expected to come to grips with the atomic problem by Wednesday, when Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal for a Big Five peace pact is reached on the agenda.

A number of small nations are planning to raise the atomic issue in connection with the Vishinsky move, claiming that there can be no practical peace pact discussion without a preliminary understanding on the atomic problem, which is disturbing relations between the great powers.

The United States and other leading powers, however, intend to make short work of the Vishinsky proposal by swamping it with a counter-resolution defining the principles basic to international understanding as embodied in provisions of the U. N. charter.

BOY BUMPS HEAD
David Matthews, aged 8 years, of 122 Hillcrest avenue, suffered a laceration of the right side of the head when he slipped and bumped his head, while playing in a new house near his home. He was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Hadassah Chapter Enjoys Thrift Tea

Child Welfare Department Holds Delightful Program—Tea At Tifereth Israel Synagogue

"The House that Hadassah Built," was the skit cleverly presented recently, when the annual thrift tea was held at Tifereth Israel synagogue.

Held by the Child Welfare department of the New Castle Chapter of Hadassah, the event was largely attended and proved to be a most successful evening.

President Mrs. Hyman Frank was in charge, and America sung by the Assembly opened the meeting. Mrs. L. Nixon is the program chairman in charge of the skit.

Miss Sylvia Moresky related some of her experiences in the Brandeis camp at Hancock, N. Y. The Brandeis Youth Foundation is under the sponsorship of the Zionist Youth Commission.

Mrs. Frank Barron, favored the assembly with "Alice Blue Gown," and "Indian Love Call," and accompanying her was Mrs. Eliah Kaplan. Mrs. Barron also led in the singing of Hattivah.

Announcements at this time were made and an emergency appeal for new clothing for 70,000 immigrants to Israel. Some of Hadassah members volunteered to represent the group at the Tuberculosis league to assist in mailing Christmas stamps.

At Regional Conference

Mrs. Irving Nixon and Mrs. L. F. Kohn attended the meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Regional Conference in Pittsburgh recently, which honored the national president, Mrs. Rose Halpern. Mrs. Kohn gave an interesting report.

The national convention of Hadassah will be held in San Francisco, from November 13-16.

Mrs. L. F. Kohn, membership chairman welcomed new members and gave appropriate gifts. Mrs. Joseph Brown, child welfare chairman outlined the program: A Chanukah children's party will be held in the Temple Israel, December 28. It will be a puppet show, with children of the Margaret Henry Home to be guests. This is for child welfare.

Mrs. R. Rubenson closed the program with prayer. Dainty refreshments were later served on a table beautifully arranged for the occasion.

The next regular meeting will be on November 30 in Temple Israel. It will be an open meeting with Mrs. Martha Sharp, who organized the Children For Palestine Movement, as speaker. Men will be invited.

Mrs. J. Conn was chairman of the thrift tea. Her aides were: Mesdames, Mont Blau, William Blau, Ed. Myers, J. Leiby, Gus Slovinsky, P. Alpern, Jack Gerson, J. Raffel, H. Friedman, G. Stone and Abe Cohen. Mrs. Morris Davis was the decoration chairman.

Installation of officers and breakfast will follow in the Eagles club.

Other reports were by Mrs. C. Gardner and Frances Corio, the latter welfare officer who stated that Catholic literature was distributed and that food was provided to a Veteran's need family.

Ways and Means committee chairman, Betty Amadio announced that an event will be held at 102 East Long avenue on November 12. A float on Our Lady of Fatima will be entertained in the Armistice Day parade with Marie Sainato as the Lady of Fatima.

National, State YMCA Officers To Visit Here

Leo Marsh, inter-racial secretary of the National YMCA council, and Harvey J. Boorman, program secretary of the state YMCA, will be in New Castle Wednesday, November 2.

The visitors will meet with staffs and officers of both the central and the Shenango street branches of the YMCA.

Mr. Marsh will meet with Dr. James Gillespie, chairman of the committee on management, and Gilbert Terry, executive of the Shenango Y. Mr. Boorman will be in conference with the central branch secretaries.

The conferences will discuss the programming and policies of the local institutions for the fall and winter season.

Y officials feel honored to have the distinguished visitors attend the policy conference. A meeting such as this allows the state and national secretaries to see first hand the type of program developed by the local Red Feather agency. Further, it makes possible the interchanging of ideas for the betterment of the association movement.

Baseball Field

Too Much Interference With Church Affairs At
"Marshall Field"

OTHER NEWS OF
COUNCIL ACTION

Because a certain element interfered so much with affairs of the New Castle district Free Methodist church, in Croton, there will be one less baseball field here next summer—and if it is yet in existence, it will be under the direct supervision of the New Castle church district. The plot formerly was known as Marshall field.

Council had exempted the property from taxation because it was used for religious and recreation purposes.

Rev. Splitstone, and the church lawyer, recited the complaint Monday to city council.

They said that the city recreation commission and Parks Director Joe Alexander had been very helpful, but they were not to blame for what went on after the games were over.

Council decide to tax the portion used for recreation which leaves it wholly in possession of the church officials who own the property.

During council session, the officers of the city employees retirement fund, recommended council appropriate $16,000, to the retirement fund when the 1950 budget is compiled.

Upon motion of Streets Director James Gibson, Harry Tanner was granted permission to excavate for a water line along Cascade boulevard.

Petition was presented to council asking that Lorain avenue between the first alley west of Haus avenue, and between Martin street, be opened and graded.

Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancelewski requested the city to place Stop signs in Terrace avenue at South Jefferson street. Stop signs are now located in South Jefferson street at that point. He favors a Stop by all vehicles going either way. The request was relayed to the police department, traffic division.

To Map Plans For Rat Control Drive

Plans for another rat control campaign in Lawrence county will be gotten under way at a meeting called for Wednesday evening at 8 in the court house, under the auspices of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association. Last year, the first county-wide campaign took place, when a great number of county farmers participated, and distributed poison bait during the Christmas season.

Rats cause a loss to farmers of millions of dollars annually, and the farmers of Lawrence county are no exception. Last year's campaign proved most effective, and a similar campaign is planned again this year.

Figures for the week ending October 29 show that 321 new and reopened claims were filed, as compared to 381 the week before and 454 during the first week of the steel strike.

Most of the claims can still be attributed indirectly to the steel strike, it is stated. County applications for compensation since the strike now total 1931.

Conference On Successor To
Adm. Denfeld

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS)—President Truman conferred today with Defense Secretary Johnson and Navy Secretary Matthews presumably on a successor to Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, ousted chief of naval operations.

The White House refused comment on the meeting, but it was announced at the Pentagon that Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, reported already chosen to succeed Denfeld, will arrive in Washington tomorrow at 4:30 a. m. (EST).

Sherman is returning from Europe, where he has been commander of the Sixth Task Fleet.

Secrecy surrounded the White House conference. Johnson and Matthews entered the executive mansion through a private entrance.

Besides the matter of replacement for Denfeld, the president is believed to have discussed the storm of congressional protest created by the Navy operations chief's dismissal in the unification controversy.

Johnson, seemingly unperturbed by the protests, went ahead with plans for a sharp reduction in Navy fighting strength.

More tea is drunk today than any other beverage except water itself.

See Agreement By Strikers And Bethlehem Co.

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Steel men today flatly forecast an agreement between Bethlehem and the CIO's striking steelworkers which would cost the company about seven cents an hour on pensions and settle the welfare issue for five years.

Industry sources said they expected CIO President Philip Murray, leader of the half million strikers who have been idle 31 days to announce the agreement at a news conference in Cleveland, O., at 4 o'clock, this afternoon.

The reported Bethlehem-CIO agreement is expected to be a pattern settlement for the entire industry.

Terms of the expected Bethlehem contract are described as follows:

1. The company to pay the entire cost of pensions for its employees. The size of pensions would be on a sliding scale based on a worker's earnings. Cost to the firm would be about seven cents an hour.
2. On insurance, the company and the workers would jointly contribute as they do under a program now in effect at Bethlehem. This part of the program reportedly would cost four cents an hour.
3. The pension-insurance issue would be "frozen" for a period of five years.

Under the agreement, the steelworkers' wage contract with Bethlehem reportedly would be extended until 1951 but could be re-opened next year for a discussion of wage issues.

Cambrian Choir Heard By Throng Of 1200 On Sunday

Audience Jams Auditorium And Sunday Schools Of First Methodist Church For Festival

Gospel hymn singing has not lost its fervor.

An enthusiastic audience of some 1200 assembled in the First Methodist church Sunday evening to prove this statement. The first united hymn singing effort of the churches of the city proved more than a success as evidenced by the large crowd on hand to join in the festival.

For over two hours the audience and the great Cambrian male chorus of Cleveland, Ohio, sang hymn after hymn under the direction of Professor W. A. Hughes of Cleveland who somehow knows how to draw music from his audience.

Prior to the opening of the program, Louis B. Round, president of the Lawrence County Men's Christian fellowship, offered a few brief introductory remarks and introduced Rev. James A. Gaiser, who offered the invocation.

Presents Chorus
Professor Hughes presented his Cambrian chorus of some 35 voices and Mrs. Evan Griffiths of Cleveland, accompanist, opening the program with three selections concluding the first series of numbers with the mighty "Crusaders Hymn." Turning to the vast audience before directing them in song, Professor Hughes stated that hymns are vital to the church and they have never lost their popularity.

With Edwin Lewis at the organ and Mrs. Griffiths at the piano, the guest leader directed the congregation in singing the great hymn, "Bring Forth The Royal Diadem," which was followed by several other numbers including "I Need Thee" and "Faith Of Our Fathers." Alex Martin, tenor soloist was heard in "Ye People Rend Your Hearts" early in the program and later in "The Ninety And Nine" honoring the memory of Ira D. Sankey the writer.

The song fest was interspersed by many other selections by the chorus as the evening progressed. The program was given great assistance by the 100 voiced women's group from various churches of the city, who occupied the choir with the Cambrian chorus.

The visiting singers concluded the program by singing a Welsh hymn, "Y Delyn Aur" (The Golden Harp), and the beautiful "Lost Chord."

Dr. Robert M. Patterson, president of the New Castle Ministerial Association one of the sponsoring groups pronounced the benediction. In addition to the ministerial group and the Men's Fellowship, the County Sabbath School Association and the Superintendent's council joined in sponsoring the highly successful event.

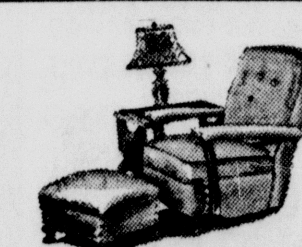

Ship's bells date from the time when hour-glasses were in use, and a bell was rung every time the glass had to be turned over.

Machine Holds Hope Of Life For Tumor Of Brain Sufferers

Electro-Encephalograph Enables Surgeons To Detect Brain Tumors Quickly

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—(INS)—A new machine with a jaw-breaking name—electro-encephalograph—holds the hope of life to day for potential sufferers of tumor on the brain.

The multi-syllable apparatus enables surgeons to detect tumors or other brain abnormalities before they become fatal.

The instrument also rules out suspected cases in which the brain pathology is involved.

The electro-encephalograph was developed by the Electro-Physical Laboratories in New York and recently presented to the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Analyzes Frequencies

Dr. C. Everett Koop, director of the hospital's tumor clinic, said the instrument automatically analyzes wave frequencies in the brain.

Thus surgeons can tell what type of abnormality exists and its location.

The brain abnormalities are recorded on paper in the form of a graph drawn by electrical impulses. The machine operates on one-millionth of a volt.

Dr. Eugene B. Spitz, hospital neurosurgeon, said children who have had epilepsy or who received brain scars at birth can have the scars removed after diagnosis by the machine.

Accelerate State Building Program

Top-Rank Designers Selected To Draft Working Plans For New Buildings

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(INS)—Scores of the state's leading architects and engineers are accelerating the General State Authority's $175,000,000 improvement program.

The top-rank designers were selected by the building agency to draft working plans and specifications for new hospitals, new recreation and flood control projects and other public works. More than $100,000,000 has been earmarked for the projects.

Working under rigid contracts the architects and engineers will submit plans before the end of 1949.

Conferences will be held with the state agencies requesting construction to determine the kind of building which will best meet their needs.

Must Get Approval
The technical designers also must obtain approval of preliminary plans from the department of labor and industry to guard against fire and safety hazards, the state art commission on general design, the state health department and the department of property and supplies before submitting them to the authority's own technical experts for action.

Once these conditions are met the drafting of the actual final working plans and specifications can start. These show every detail of a vast multi-million dollar mental hospital, if that is the project, and represent the work of dozens of draftsmen and engineers before they are finally completed.

The GSA aiming at the earliest possible start of construction, has set deadlines for submission of plans weeks ahead of the usual period required. It also has turned over to its own draftsmen the task of designing some of the smaller structures for improvements at state parks to get the program moving.

Shenango Group Has Halloween Party
The Shenango Valley Chapter of the Seton Hill Alumnae held a delightful Halloween party at the Francis Biggins' home on Sharpsville. Hostesses for the occasion were the Mesdames George Allen, Victor Petrino, and Francis Biggins.

An informal business meeting was followed by bridge. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Theodore Streetsky and Mrs. Frank Leonard, both of New Castle.

The next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Theodore Streetsky, 228 Euclid avenue, with Mrs. James Rote as co-hostess.

SOCIETY & Clubs

Mr. And Mrs. W. R. Thomas Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Thomas of 1411 Delaware avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, October 29. Over 250 guests attended the "open house" observed during the afternoon and evening.

The couple were married on October 28, 1899, but celebrated their anniversary Sunday.

Beautiful floral bouquets graced the rooms as testimony of the high esteem held by their friends. A room filled with many gifts and the presentation of a lovely chime clock from members of the former Emanuel Baptist church was a marked tribute.

During the evening a program was followed. Rev. Oliver Hurst of the First Baptist church opened with a prayer. Welsh hymns, favorites of the honored couple, were conducted by Morgan Jones, and two original poems were read by Mrs. William Blueford and Miss Elizabeth Harvard. Mrs. Morgan Jones sang a solo.

The tea table was centered with a large three tiered wedding cake. Lighted candles flanked the cake and china used on the table were wedding gifts of the couple. Mrs. Ann Johnson, Mrs. Morgan Jones and Miss Elizabeth Harvard poured.

The couple were married at Niles, Ohio, by the Rev. Archibald Moss of the First Christian church coming to New Castle to make their home and have resided here ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are the parents of three daughters, Miss Ann Stephens Thomas, Mrs. Gwladys Pollard, and Mrs. S. L. Kovachik (Florence) of Stamford, Conn. They have one granddaughter, Harriett Ann.

G.I. Training And Education Rules
Effective Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS)—The government reminded veterans today that new rules on GI education and training became effective Tuesday.

The rule changes will be important to veterans who want additional training under the GI bill of rights and to those applying for original or supplemental certificates of eligibility for education and training.

The Veterans Administration said the procedures are made necessary by the recently passed law which bans vocational and recreational courses and prohibits veterans' enrollment in schools less than one year old. They require:

1. A vet who has completed or discontinued a GI bill course to determine his aptitude and needs before he can qualify for a new course in a different general field.

2. A vet to list on his application for an original or supplemental certificate of eligibility for GI bill training the name of the course and school.

VA emphasized that certificates issued before Nov. 1 will be honored even though they do not contain the name of the course and school.

WEDDING PROBLEMS

"Since my husband-to-be comes from a distant state, shall I send invitations to his relatives even though I know it will be impossible for them to attend the wedding? His immediate family will, of course, be there. (2) Who is responsible for out-of-town wedding guests and bridesmaids from out-of-town? (3) What is the procedure for a double ring ceremony? (4) When and by whom is the bride's face veil lifted?"

Answer: (1) Yes. Send them to everyone on his list of both relatives and friends.

(2) If there is room at the bride's house, they should stay there, especially members of the wedding party from out of town. If there is not sufficient room at her house, her mother should arrange to have them entertained at the home of relatives or friends. If neither is possible they must then stay at a hotel. In this case, guests meet their own expenses. Those of the bride's attendants are the responsibility of the bride's family.

(3) The bride must buy her bridegroom's wedding ring, and he must buy hers. The maid-of-honor may carry the bridegroom's ring or the bride may carry it herself. In the latter event, she may wear it on her wedding ring finger over her glove, or on her little finger. Thus she will be sure to have it when the time comes for making use of it. When you make your wedding arrangements with the clergyman, be sure to tell him that yours will be a double ring ceremony that he may let you know when, during the ceremony, you should place the groom's ring on his third finger of his left hand. This is usually done before the bride has received her ring.

(4) At the completion of the ceremony, just before the recessional, after the maid-of-honor returns the bride's bouquet, she lifts the bride's face veil.

WONDER BREAD IMPROVED 33%
In the Milk Protein Factor To Help Children Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

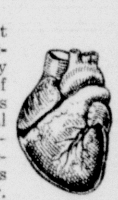

"PROTEIN—THE KEY TO LIFE AND GROWTH"

THE FATE OF THESE 4 CELLS IS OFTEN THE FATE OF THE ENTIRE HUMAN BODY!

HEART CELL AND HEART

The human heartbeat cycle lasts about .8 second. 100,000 beats a day pump 10,567 quarts of blood! The heart rests between beats—a total time of 12 hours a day—about 35 years in a lifetime. The heart develops about 1/240 horsepower. Yet outwards by years the most perfect auto!

MUSCLE CELL AND MUSCLE

659 separate muscles contain some 6,000,000,000 muscle cells—less than half the number of the "thinking" brain. Each muscle cell has 400 fibrils. Each fibril bundle can "lift" 1/1,000,000th ounce; a muscle is inch thick from 58 to 140 pounds. Tongue muscles are fastest—25 movements per second!

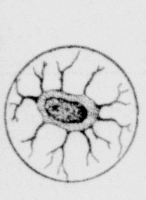

BRAIN CELL AND BRAIN

One of 6 types of cells in cerebral cortex of the brain... which contains a total of some 15 billion cells. A principal factor in cell life and development is protein. Thus, in life, nothing is more important than the quality of the food we eat.

BONE CELL AND BONE

The skeleton has 222 bones. Each is made up of cells... some living, some petrified cells. Human bone can carry 30 times as much weight as granite! Shin bone is strongest—it can support a load of 3600 pounds!

Serve Wonder Bread To Help Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, and Fish
In Certain Growth And Energy-Building Contents (as stated in chart)

Without protein no child can grow in body or brain. Growing children need TWICE the protein per pound of body weight as grownups.

These foods are good for protein: Meat, Milk, Fish, Eggs, Nuts, And Wonder Bread.

Penny for penny, Wonder Bread gives your child 46% more body-building protein than the average of meat, milk, fish and eggs.

Good For Energy

Without energy no child can work, study or play. Wonder Bread is a good and substantial energy food. Then, too, Wonder Bread is more quickly converted into energy than fat. And, of course, is better in protein for child growth.

Helps Build
Strong Bodies 8 Ways

The chart shows the 8 body and brain-building properties of Wonder Bread. Serve Wonder Bread together with fruits, vegetables, meat, milk, fish and eggs in a well-balanced diet. Give your child every chance to build body and brain. 8 ounces of Wonder Bread for a growing child cost less than a dime a day. Certainly you can afford Wonder Bread for your child.

Doubly Fresh

Children love Wonder Bread. Plain or toasted. Because Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it. Because slow-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

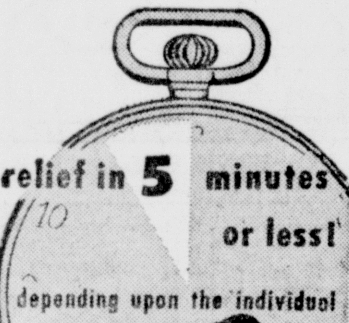

Get economical Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today—you'll be glad you did.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Then Comes the Second Year

A healthy baby is a delight and joy for most parents. Of course there's diaper-changing and a few other moderately unpleasant things.

In many a family something happens to this lovely picture along about the time a youngster moves into his second year. He's more interesting, perhaps, but he's likely to be a handful. Earlier, he was generally satisfied to stay in one place. Now he begins to want to run all around the premises. He used to play quietly with a few toys. Now he's curious about books, magazines, bric-a-brac and all sorts of other household treasures. Nor is his curiosity a passive sort of thing. He drags the objects of his interest out of their places. He pulls, hauls, tears, tastes and bangs. And another change soon becomes evident, too. He wants to do things when he wants to do them and in the way he wants to do them. And he usually wants to do them by himself.

It's a good idea for those parents whose first child is still under a year of age to be prepared for a different sort of life beginning with the second year. It needn't be too bad, but it will call for more patience, more ingenuity and a considerably greater degree of athletic skill to keep up with him.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31. — (INS) — As a patriotic symbol the American Eagle is a grand old bird but to Curly Twyford, famed supplier of birds and small animals to the motion picture makers, the Eagle is a costly and voracious headache — along with buzzards, vultures and owls.

Curly, a miracle man of infinite patience in training all manner of wild life, currently is supplying vultures, a falcon and other birds for "The Hawk and the Arrow," starring Burt Lancaster and Virginia Mayo.

Raven Big Star
"I make money out of Jimmy the raven. He's my big star, you might say. And out of cougar, my big cat. She's wonderful. Once she had to pick up a little dog by her teeth and give it a shake. I told her, carefully, not to hurt it, and she didn't leave a scratch," Curly recounts.

"But eagles. And vultures. There's little call for them. And they eat their heads off, meat that is. With Baldy, my big eagle, he's not too bad. He likes fresh meat. But my vultures. Ugh. Meat has to be three-four days old, and my neighbors out in the valley sometimes complain."

Boston Indian
Where but in Hollywood could you find an actor with a soft Eastern accent who comes from a 300-year-old Boston family playing the part of an Indian chief?

Nat. Hold productions proudly lays claim to having the only Back Bay "chief" now in pictures—young Fred Libby who is currently taking the role of White Buffalo in "The Cariboo Trail."

Libby says that he has a trace of Indian blood.

Maine Graduate
A graduate of the University of Maine with a major in dramatics, Libby has played "Hamlet" in the only full-length non-professional version of that play since Shakespeare's day. He wants to do legitimate versions of Shakespeare and aspires to be a director.

But, meantime he is leading a band of braves against a small company of white folk, headed by Randolph Scott, who are trying to find ranch land in the Cariboo in British Columbia where the Indians are Chilcotins.

Early Riser
Ruth Roman's mother, unfamiliar with the unusual hours that working film actresses keep, frantically reported a missing daughter to Warner Bros. Studios the other day.

Miss Roman, who returned home after a late date and decided not to disturb her mother, slept on the couch. She made her usual 6 a. m. awakening and left for the studio.

Mrs. Mary Roman, visiting from Boston, awoke later to find her daughter's bed unused and her daughter gone.

She called the studio and demanded that they notify the police. Mrs. Roman was calmly informed that her daughter was working on "The Rock Bottom" set, where she had been since 9 o'clock.

BRUSH DISH
When you are making a gelatin dish brush the mold with salad oil with a pastry brush, before pouring gelatin in, so that, when set, it slips out easily.

United Jewish Appeal To Meet

Wednesday, November 2, Is First Gift Meeting Of Group During Fund-Raising Campaign

LEO LANIA

United Jewish Appeal's initial gift meeting in New Castle will take place on Wednesday evening, November 2, at the Leslie hotel.

Chairman Daniel Fisher announced that the time is 8:30 p.m. The group of men, who make up the group for United Jewish Appeal, will be addressed by the distinguished foreign correspondent, Leo Lania.

He speaks on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal campaign for $250,000,000.

Also a well-known novelist and playwright, Mr. Lania has just returned from Europe, with an authoritative report on the current conditions among European Jews.

In France and Belgium, Jewish men and women are engaged in a mighty effort to rebuild their community life. In Austria and Germany he visited the D.P. camps; in Czechoslovakia he interviewed President Benes and also with the Polish president, Beirut.

As a trained reporter, observer and analyst, Mr. Lania has seen the European crisis at first hand for many years. He has intimate knowledge, not only of its problems, but of the critical needs of surviving European Jewry.

The U.J.A. will require a minimum of $250,000,000 in 1949 to carry out a many-sided program of emptying the Jewish D.P. camps in Europe. It will bring at least 180,000 homeless Jews into Israel and receive a large number of refugees in the United States. It will also provide funds for relief and reconstruction in the Jewish communities of Eastern and Western Europe for aid to large sections of the 1,000,000 Jews in North Africa.

This humanitarian program is carried on by the Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal and the United Service for New Americans.

TOLEDO, O.—Ralph Smith, 18, of Toledo was stubborn about paying a 25-cent license fee for his bicycle. Municipality Judge Homer A. Ramey fined him $5 and costs for operating his bicycle without a license. This amounted to $8.70. Smith couldn't pay the fine. He was sent to the workhouse to work it out at $3 a day.

Today's Fashion Flash

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 31.—(INS)—Mode-mad Miami is wearing beach hats today that are high, wide and then some.

The millinery cabanas, introduced for resort wear by Mr. John Inc., stretch as wide as four feet in diameter. They have three-inch-wide, 10-foot-long chin straps to hold them in place.

Often thatched with straw for extra insulation against sun, the beach hats are not only usual but practical. Thanks to their wide, flat top surface, they not only shield the entire body, parasol fashion but can be used to bed down small babies on the sand.

You might say—all the comforts of dome.

Washington Wins Junior High Championship By Downing Franklin 6-0

Lane To Tardio Pass Results In Victory

George Washington Junior High school brought the city junior high championship back to the North Hill Saturday night as it upset a favored Franklin team, 6-0.

With less than a minute remaining in the ball game Joe Lane connected with John Tardio in the end zone from 16 yards out, for the only score of the ball game. Lee Pears plunge for the extra point fell short.

Washington Has Edge

Just the play before a pass from Lane to Chuck Cuba was good for 17 yards, to put Washington inside the Franklin 20-yard line for the first time in the evening.

Up until the last minute flurry by the Little Presidents, the two teams played to a standstill, with Washington having a slight edge in the statistical department, but being kept back in their own territory most of the time by way of fumbles and the fine punting of O'Brien.

Lane Stars

Joe Lane stole the show for the night with some classy running to go along with his passing. Of the 130 yards gained by Washington on the ground, Lane picked up 98. Most of these were picked up by way of end sweeps from hand-offs.

For Franklin, Medure, Hemphill and Cook, did most of the ball carrying, but could never get past the strong Washington line for any consistent gains.

The entire Washington team played great ball and never gave the Patriots a chance to really get rolling. Only once did the East Siders threaten, and that time when Medure recovered a Washington fumble on the Washington 26-yard line.

They took the ball down to the 15 in three plays but on the next

Browns-Eagles Gain Victories Over Rival Foes

Philadelphia Hands Steelers Trouncing 38-7, Browns Get Revenge On 49ers

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS)—Revenge was never more toothsome than the retribution possessed by the Cleveland Browns today at the expense of the San Francisco 49ers.

The Browns—with Otto Graham pitching passes for two touchdowns and scoring another and Lou Groza booting a fourth-period field goal—edged the 49ers, 30 to 28, yesterday before 72,189 fans at Cleveland.

Browns Top 49ers
By winning, the Browns avenged their earlier 56-to-28 loss to the 49ers and amputated the All-America conference championship aspirations of the "Frisco entry.

The Browns and New York Yankees remained deadlocked for first place as the Yankees downed Baltimore, 21 to 14.

Eagles Trounce Steelers
In the rival National league, Philadelphia ended its joint occupancy with Pittsburgh of the Eastern Division lead by shellacking the Steelers, 38 to 7, with 38,000 spectators on hand.

The Los Angeles Rams, only undefeated team in either pro circuit, racked up their sixth straight win, but they had a narrow squeak in downing the Chicago Bears, 27 to 24.

Giants Top Cards

The New York Giants downed the Chicago Cardinals, 41 to 33, and the Green Bay Packers nipped Detroit, 16 to 14. The victoryless New York Bulldogs salvaged a 14-all tie with Washington.

Only 3,678 fans turned up at the Polo grounds for the Bulldog-Redskin game. For that matter, only 11,494 were on hand to see the Yankees beat the Colts. So New York's inter-league attendance war seemed to be a stand-off once again.

Tom Frye, executive director of the state game commission, today said reorganization of the agency assures better hunting.

Forest, Lions Keep Winning

League Leaders Take Mustangs 33-0; Lions Whip Shamrocks 13-0 In Sandlot Tilts

Forest A.C. kept in the running to clinch championship honors in the City Sandlot Grid league by whipping the Mustangs 33 to 0 at G. Washington field Sunday afternoon.

More than 500 football fans were on hand to see the double header of grid action. S.S. Lions defeated the Shamrocks 13 to 0 in the second tilt.

Meet Sunday

Yesterday's winners, Forest and Lions, will meet next Sunday. A Forest win would clinch the championship. A victory by the Lions would necessitate a playoff game the following Sunday.

Forest Coaches Ralph Cenane and Pat DeMarco used 23 players against the Mustangs. Forest has four wins and a 0-0 tie with the Lions for a season's record.

J. Pace, Flora, Miller, S. Russo, and DeLoenzo made six-pointers in the rout. R. Jacobs made good on three of six placement attempts. Flora's touchdown kept the former Ne-Ca-Hi back at the top of the league scoring race. He has made 24 points.

Sallie Stars

Earl Sallie, another former New Castle star, scored all points as his S.S. Lion team turned back the winless Shamrocks, 13 to 0. Sallie raced 65 yards for his first TD.

Sallie is second in the league scoring race with 20 points.

Elliott Steelers Leading League

Rose Mooney had a high of 181 when the Elliott Steelers, which she captained, defeated Ellwood City in three matches at that place, Friday evening. The Steelers have won nine and lost no games in the Tri-County Women's league, and lead the loop. Ambbridge will bowl the Steelers, Friday night, at Castle alleys.

The highest man on the first string Michigan State football line-up this season is, of all things, a tackle. Don Coleman, starting left tackle, weighs 178 pounds and is 12 pounds lighter than his smallest teammate, backs included.

Rough Road For Irish And Army Next Few Weeks

Notre Dame Meets Michigan State Saturday, Army Meets Fordham, Ten Unbeaten Teams

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The honeymoon is over for Notre Dame and Army. Both must get down and dig a bit all during November to cement their claims to national championship recognition.

This week, for instance, Notre Dame plays Michigan State—loser only to Michigan, 7 to 3, in the first game of the season. And Army meets undefeated Fordham, a real sleeper and seemingly much stronger than anyone suspected.

Rough Road Ahead

Both those opponents are capable of giving the Irish and the Cadets a rough afternoon. Thereafter, Notre Dame meets three more toughies in North Carolina, Iowa and Southern California. Army's playmates are once-beaten Penn and Navy, always fired up for the cadets.

At least there won't be any more scores like Army's 40-to-14 rout of VMI last Saturday or Notre Dame's 40-to-0 racking up of Navy. The Irish now have gone a record 33 games without defeat. Michigan State and Fordham displayed offensive strength in their own right. The Spartans licked Temple, 62 to 14, and Fordham routed Georgetown, 42 to 0. Both these victims had lost only one previous game.

Ten major college teams still are undefeated. In addition to Army, Notre Dame and Fordham they are Oklahoma, Baylor, Boston University, Virginia, California, Cornell and Wyoming.

Four Bike Riders Injured In Spill

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS)—Four six-day bike riders were hospitalized today as the result of a major spill only a few moments after they set out on their 144-hour grind at New York's 22nd Engineman Armory.

Seven riders were involved in the pileup last night, and racing was suspended for almost an hour. The four hospitalized racers were Milo Carrara, possible skull fracture; Bill Jacoby, possible concussion; Charles De Kuysscher, possible broken shoulder and right leg; and Giulio Rossi, gashed thigh.

Joe Bedenk, who's now doubling as football and baseball coach, won the Shamrocks grid honors at Penn State in 1923.

Small Game Season Will Open Tuesday

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(INS)—The 1949 small game season opens tomorrow.

Tom Frye, head of the state game commission, has oiled his sixteen gauge shotgun and is ready to lead the march of close to one million hunters into the woods of Pennsylvania. Frye said he is a grouse-man himself.

He predicted good hunting this year, with "indications of a boost of game chances over last season."

Hunters Warned
The executive director of the commission issued a warning to sportsmen "to be careful with gun and automobile." The season is open for small game, not men, he emphasized.

Hundreds of thousands of hunters swelled by the ranks of idled workers, will set themselves up for business in their favorite hunting spots to wait the opening shot at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Bobwhite quail and Hungarian partridge seasons close November 12 with season bag limits of 12 and 8 respectively. Ringneck pheasants, males only, eight the limit; rabbits, 20 the limit; and squirrels, except red, 20 the limit. An unlimited number of red squirrels may be taken until September 30, 1950.

The ruffed grouse season is open six days only, November 1-3 and 10-12 with a limit of six.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SMALL GAME season opens in Pennsylvania Tuesday and the State Game commission urges extreme care in the handling of firearms. Persons of advanced age and those not accustomed to great physical exertion should be sensible about the effort they put into their sport. Gunners and trappers are urged to study carefully the seasons and bag limits printed on their licenses and to read the information given in the digest of state hunting and trapping regulations they received with their hunting licenses.

This year, grouse may be hunted only on the first three days of the season and the last three days of the second week. The dates are: November 1, 2, 3 and November 10, 11, 12.

Certain counties are closed to wild turkey hunting, some are open in part and in others turkey hunting is allowed only between November 1 and November 12, inclusive.

Raccoons may be hunted beginning November 1, but may not be trapped until November 10. Woodchucks are not in season, and will not again be until July 1, 1950.

Skunks, minks and otters may not be trapped this year before November 10; but opossums may be taken beginning November 1. Bobwhite quail and Hungarian partridges may be hunted November 1 to November 12, inclusive.

The last day for woodcock and dove hunting is November 8. Other than the restrictions given, wild turkeys, ringneck pheasants (males only), cottontail rabbits, grackles, and all species of squirrels may be hunted from November 1 to November 26, inclusive.

Biologists have often stated that the rabbit is host to more diseases and parasites than any other wild creature. Many hunters are under the apprehension that a disease may be contracted from animals carrying warblers. Some hunters throw away any rabbit on which a warble is found and shoot a replacement for it—which is certainly not good wildlife conservation.

This past summer, it was discovered by research men that of the Pennsylvania cottontails they trapped, more than 35% were warble infested. While most warbles drop out prior to November 1, some remain on rabbits into the small game season.

Game authorities state that it is normal for rabbits to have warbles, even as a dog to have fleas, and that any rabbit killed by a gunner and properly cooked is fit for human consumption.

There is a report Len Gilbert may resign as City Baseball league president. It is hoped the report is erroneous. Mr. Gilbert spark-plugged the loop for the past two years, both of which were successful. The Lee Avenue field is not yet developed, but it is believed it will be completed next year. . . . Jefferson A. C. plans a Grappling show for November 16 in the Arena, and a boxing show November 30. . . . Relatives of Elkins Brothers say that opponents refuse to box Elkins. A "natural" is coming up between Rizeri Ronzi and Billy Pozza. It should be staged before interest in it expires. . . . Former Charlie B. Mayne who never misses hunting on the opening day will be afield Tuesday, as will the city's present chief executive, John F. Haven. Who is the eldest hunter to go hunting tomorrow. . . . Send his name and address to Here & There.

Red Hurricane Starts Drills For Important 'Quip Tussle

New Castle's Red Hurricane football team faces its most important test of the season Friday night at Taggart Stadium.

Only two weeks after being really "up" for a very good Har-Brack team and emerging victorious 19 to 0, the Red and Black starts preparing today for a clash with the Aliquippa Indians. The winner of this game will probably be in Pitt Stadium November 26 for a playoff game to decide the WPIAL, AA champion.

The Hurricane failed to make a gain in the point standing over the weekend and second place Aliquippa made a big jump by squeezing past Beaver Falls 16 to 13. McKeesport, the third leading contender, took a 20 to 7 decision from Allentown in an exhibition tilt.

Charleroi Out

Five teams remain in the running for the championship. They are Mt. Lebanon and Greensburg in addition to the previously named aspirants. Charleroi, a sixth undefeated team, was humiliated by Monessen 47 to 7 Saturday night and is no longer running anywhere.

Aliquippa was defeated by the very tough Windber team, 7-6, in an early season clash. However this was a non-league game. Since then the Quips have vanquished Rochester, Ambridge, Ellwood City and Beaver Falls.

The valley Indians were behind in most all statistical departments Friday at Beaver Falls but capitalized on three breaks. A field goal from the 22 by Bob Ball, a substitute third team center, provided the margin of victory. This occurred with less than two minutes remaining in the hard-fought game.

McKeesport has a chance to prove its worthiness of a Pitt Stadium title shot by playing once-beaten Jeannette Friday night. Ambridge will be met the following week.

Big Crowd Expected

The easy contest at Washington last week should prove to be the Canes' advantage. However, Aliquippa is a big, bruising team that will be playing for all the marbles here Friday night in what should be another SRO crowd.

HURRICANE BREEZES

Rudy Mattioli, Har-Brack's exceptional passer, connected on eight out of nine attempts Friday night as his mates downed Vandergrift 26 to 6. Three of the junior ace's tosses went for TDs. Warren managed to score 19 points against the Massillon Tigers but still lost 35 to 19 Friday night. The Canes Jayvees complete their season this afternoon against Sharon. The locals are still undefeated.

Third team back Wilbur Folt received a chipped bone in his wrist in a practice session last week and will be out for the season. He's a comer. Charles "Doc" Walzer has been promoted up to the varsity. This boy is a big tackle and a good place kicker.

Expect Strong Team
The Big Five is expecting another team this year and is lining up a first class schedule. Ed Carr has already secured some of the strongest teams in the district and is still looking for others.

There will be three games a night at the K. P. Hall this year for most of the Big Five's home games. The Shenango Pottery girls and the K. P. Cubs will play in the preliminary games.

Mr. Mack, who is expected to end his active managerial career with the 1950 American league season, sent out an ultimatum to his players that it will be "open season" at the A's training camp next spring.

Ellwood Bolts Socks Cubs, 14-6

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 31.—Ellwood VFW Boltbusters made it five wins in a row by downing the Butler Cubs 14 to 6 Sunday afternoon at Butler.

The win avenged a 6 to 0 setback given the Bolts last season by the Cubs. This represented the Ellwood eleven's only loss in the 1948 cam campaign.

A 50-yard pass play, Dale Tillia to Bill McClintock, gave the Bolts their first score. Bill O'Brien had recovered a Butler fumble near the 50 to give Ellwood possession. Mastrilack connected for the conversion attempt from placement.

Blocked Punt

Butler made it 7 to 6 at the opening of the third period. Dale Tillia's punt was blocked deep in Bolt territory. Parlanti picked up the loose pigskin on the 23 and raced to the one. Bob Vargo carried over for the TD. A pass attempt for the extra point failed. Ellwood made its safety touchdown in the last stanza. Eonta intercepted a Cub pass and returned it to the Butler 24. Joe Vargo swept the end for 23 yards and a first down on the one. Vince Manauzzi plunged over on the next play and Mastrilack again converted.

Westminster Celebrates Stunning Upset Of Geneva 7 To 0

A last period pass with less than five minutes to play gave the Westminster Titans a 7-0 victory over Geneva Saturday night in a closely fought contest that spoiled the Covies' annual homecoming.

Left end Victor Bianchi of Edgeworth set up the touchdown when he intercepted a Covie pass and ran 35 yards to the Geneva 10 yard stripe. On the third down, quarterback Gaylord Lutz of New Castle, fired a perfect pass to Bob Ward, a Titan back, who took the ball in the end zone for the touchdown. Carl Barthelson kicked the extra point.

Titans Hold Decided Edge

The Titans held the edge in the statistics department throughout the contest, running up 15 first downs to Geneva's nine. Westminster picked up 194 yards rushing to the Covies' 58 and completed nine of 15 passes for 120 yards. The Geneva eleven was able to complete only three of 19 passes attempted for a total of 83 yards.

The Titans defense bottled up Left Half Adam Karcis, big gun for the Covies, who was able to pick up only 36 yards in 13 rushing plays.

Wharton Injured

An injury early in the game kept Titan Fullback Dick Wharton on the sidelines during most of the contest. Paul Campbell moved over to the fullback position and Ward came in for Wharton as the Titan high scorer was carried from the field.

Lutz, who tossed the winning pass for the Titans, saw action during most of the contest.

Top ground gainers for Westminster were Dick Sylvester with 50 yards, Campbell with 45, Ward with 38, and Wharton who picked up three first downs and 43 yards in the opening minutes of the game.

Have .500 Average

The win Saturday gave the Titans .500 for the season. The Westminster eleven has not lost a game in the last four starts although two of the tilts resulted in tie contests. Since losing to Slippery Rock and Juniata in the opening contests, the Titans have held their opponents to two touchdowns. The Titans battled their way to a 0-0 deadlock, fought Aliegheny to a 7-7 tie, and defeated Bethany last week 19-6.

By TOMMY THOMPSON

Star Passer, Champion Philadelphia Eagles

(Written Especially for I. N. S.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31. —

You've got to be a fast thinker to be a good passer in football, and in order to be fast you have to have the fundamentals down so pat that they come to you instinctively.

Surprise — catching the other team off guard — is one of the main factors for a successful pass play, and speed in getting that ball away aids the surprise element.

Two Good Types

There are two types of forward passes that I use. They are the hard and sharp kind — usually traveling less than 20 yards — and the long, soft looping pass to cover maximum yardage. A different delivery must be used for each.

The shorter hard pass is thrown overhanded. I cock my arm with the ball above my ear and fire directly to the receiver, about shoulder high. In throwing the long one, I heave the ball sidearm, aiming the ball in an upward arc and twisting to give it a good spiral.

Lay Ball in Spot

These long ones are much harder to throw, and more dangerous than the short ones. In heaving the long passes, you try to "lay" the ball to a certain spot — rather than pitching to the man — so that the ball and the receiver will arrive there at the same time.

I use the same grip in both deliveries. While it's different from the grip used by most passers, I believe it helps my passing. Instead of holding my fingertips on the lace, which most passers do to get a firmer grip, I hold the ball more toward the end without touching the lace.

This makes the ball seem smaller, giving me a better grip and a better spiral.

Get Away Fast

The main thing in passing is to get away from the line as fast as possible, and don't turn your head away from the field. I get great success from the T formation, because I'm looking at the field from the time I'm handed the ball from center, all through the fade back, and to the time I let go of the ball.

One of the biggest assets you can develop is learning to throw that ball when you are running backwards, or off balance. Above all, don't wind up. Back there, you're in the same position as a pitcher with a man on first.

Practice so much that you don't have to get set to pass. Learn to fire that ball automatically from any position. If you hop, or wind up, you're wasting precious seconds.

Stay in Pocket

Also, in fading back, try to stay in the pocket behind the center of your line. You have your best protection there, because the opposing ends are more liable to get through to you from the flanks than the opposing linemen.

If you're a right handed passer, grab the ball in your passing grip from center, fade back quickly, plant your right foot down and push off of it for leverage as you fire.

In calling a pass play, keep in mind the surprise element at all times. That's when they click best. Ideal conditions — depending on the game of course — might be first down and 10 to go, or second and one, and even third and one. Usually, it's best to throw one anytime when its possible to pickup a first down on the next play if the pass doesn't click.

Element of Surprise

You can surprise the opposition even when they are expecting a pass. For example, they might be expecting a long aerial on third and 10, on first and 15.

Then you cross them up with a short screen pass. If this connects, the receiver may have a wide open field, because the opposition has spread out, expecting a long heave.

In throwing a screen pass, you have to be very fast. Split second timing is needed to let the opponents through and then lopping the ball over their heads.

Great Offensive Weapon

Passing is a great offensive weapon, even when you don't use it. Sometimes, the opposition may be expecting a pass, maybe on third down and 10. Let them believe that by fading back for a pass. But while they deploy for an aerial, you hand the ball off for a running play.

The bogeyman of passing is the interception. That's why passing should be handled with extreme care. I believe that if you have three passes intercepted in one game, you can't win. Of course, there are exceptions to this, but you must remember that an interception not only costs you yardage, but is also demoralizing to your team.

Coach Elmer Gross, beginning his first season at the Penn State basketball hall, already has started daily drills. His outstanding hold-overs are Joe Tocci, of Ridgewood, N. Y., Lou Lamie, of Arnold, and Marty Costa, of Fredericktown. The Lions open their season December 7.

Maybe the vested interests decided the answer at Cleveland wasn't quite as simple as a mere choice between president Veeck and player-manager Lou Boudreau. To call this a choice at all is to engage in a bit of gay, light-hearted rallery.

Toronto Assumes Lead In League

(By International News Service)

The Toronto Maple Leafs, last year's Stanley Cup winners, held down first place in the National Hockey League today after defeating the Detroit Red Wings.

The Maple Leafs defeated the New York Rangers, 4 to 2, last night before 14,688 spectators.

Meanwhile, the Red Wings had a four-game unbeaten streak snapped when they lost to Montreal, 4 to 1. A crowd of 13,682 was on hand for the game in Detroit.

The Chicago Black Hawks slaughtered the Boston Bruins, 10 to 4, for their second straight victory. The Hawks climbed into a three-way tie for fourth place with New York and Boston.

Beagle Training Area Is Closed

Shenango Valley Beagle club's training area is closed effective November 1, November 2, inclusive, during which time the services of a trapper will be procured to remove vermin from the area.

SADDLE CLUB PLANS WEDNESDAY MEETING

Lawrence County Saddle and Harness Association will hold a regular business meeting Wednesday evening, November 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McKibben on the Liberty Grange road.

Meeting time is eight o'clock. All members have been requested by club officials to attend and to bring their own sandwiches.

Joe Louis Will Shortly Challenge "Ez" Charles?

(International News Service Staff Writer)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. — The setting apparently is being prepared in the manner of a class B movie so that Joe Louis can come out of retirement and fight Ezard Charles for the world heavyweight championship.

The tipoff that came with the subtlety of being conked on the head with a hammer was an announcement by the International Boxing club that Louis will box Pat Valentino in a 10-round no-decision match. The scene of the exhibition is the Chicago stadium and the date Dec. 7.

It was only a little more than two weeks ago that Charles knocked out Valentino in the eighth round of a bout in San Francisco.

Few had ever heard of Valentino before his fight with Charles and few had ever expected to hear of him after his loss to the National Boxing association's recognized heavyweight champion.

For Comparison

The No. 1 script from the publicity agents says the exhibition will provide the first opportunity for a comparison of Louis and Charles.

The No. 2 script probably will arrive about the first of the year. This one is likely to be the an-

Philadelphia Phillies Have 1950 Pennant Buzz

(By TOM R. BRISLIN)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31. —

Might as well send in your 1950 World Series ticket applications right now to the Phillies' front office.

A crystal ball peek into the baseball future today shows the fighting Bluejays definitely the team to beat for the National League pennant next season.

It may be a bit early to climb out on the proverbial limb and risk the fate of the public opinion poll experts in last year's presidential election, but right at this time the Phils loom as "the team" in 1950.

Sawyer's Confidence

In fact, no less an authority than astute Eddie Sawyer, popular Bluejays' pilot, insists that if his third-place Phillies had a few more weeks to work on it they might have been the 1948 Series opponents of the maimed, mauled but marvelous New York Yankees.

The former college professor turned big league manager said his Phils were the best team in the National League at the season's close.

And therein is the peg upon which a prelude to victory forecast for the Jays in 1950 is based. If the Phillies were the strongest team at the end of the recent season, on Sawyer's promise they'll be even stronger by the time spring training rolls around.

The Jays have edged into the first division just twice in the past 31 seasons and have won the pennant only once in the history of the National League.

Pennock Gets Credit

But the victory time-table drawn up back in 1946 by the late Herb Pennock, then general manager of the Phillies, stands a good chance of being fulfilled next year.

Pennock, who must receive much of the credit if the Jays eventually win the flag because of the groundwork he did in laying a foundation for Sawyer's fighting young club, predicted that 1950 "will be the payoff year" for the Phillies.

The collapse of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the series this year convinced many National League observers—and Phillies' front office chieftains as well—that Pennock's forecast looms stronger than ever.

Need Pitchers

Said one Jays' official after the Yankees sent the Dodgers' flag hopes into mothballs for another year:

"If we can't win the pennant from Brooklyn next season, we'll turn in our uniforms. Give us one or two pitchers—and I mean pitchers, not Dodgers' hurlers—and we'll make it tough for everyone."

Sawyer's starting lineup in 1948 averaged 24 years and next year probably will be even younger, though certainly more seasoned.

Depending on Waitkus

If he regains his previous wizardry after a long layoff caused by his wounding in Chicago, Eddie Waitkus, the league's classiest first baseman, will guard the initial sack.

Smooth Mike Gollat, brittle but brilliant "Granny" Hammer, and power-hitting Willie Jones, shape up as a stand-out second-short-and-third combination. With Waitkus in top form, the Phils will boast the league's best infield in 1950.

The outfield will literally bulge with high-grade talent—Del Ennis, Richie Ashburn, Stan Holmim, Johnny Blatnick, Eddie Mayo and Eddie Sanicki. Andy Seminick, showing improvement all the time, will be behind the plate again.

But it will be on the pitching mound that the Jays should show the greatest 1950 improvement.

In Robin Roberts, Kenny Heinzelman, Russ Meyer and Hank Borow, Sawyer has the nucleus for a winning hurling corps.

Some reinforcements from the farm system to give Sawyer added pitching strength and the Jays will may be hoisting that pennant to the Shibe Park flagpole next fall.

Venerable Connie Mack, nearing 87, set his sights again today on that elusive "one last pennant" he has dreamed of since 1931 for his Philadelphia Athletics.

Office Holders Should Tell The Truth

Friday's night paper carried an ad by Humble John Haven, whose Million Dollar White Elephant (City Hall) will long be remembered by the taxpayers. But to Humble John, who expects to soon sit in his spacious quarters with its walnut panels, it will be a source of joy. Knowing the Mayor and his tastes for the finer things in life, when the taxpayers foot the bill, it only surprises me that the walls were not made of gold and studded with diamonds.

Although the occupation of longshoreman may be a humble one, I know of no reason, Mr. Mayor, for reflecting upon their veracity. My experience with you and your Friday's ad leaves me to believe that you and your comrades at City Hall are more needing of the sermon, "THAT OFFICEHOLDERS SHOULD TELL THE TRUTH".

In your ad of Friday you speak of half truths, evasions, and insinuations, Mr. Mayor. You said there were seven elected officials in the fund. There are eight: John Haven, Joseph Alexander, D. O. Davies, Albert Hoyland, James Gibson, Richard Davis, Bernard Hanlon, and William G. Moore. Whom are you leaving out? If it is Mr. Alexander, it will mean a cost to the taxpayers of $25,095 less a small contribution made by him. Any opinion you may express on a pension fund for elected officials would be biased. You do have a potential interest in this fund, in that if you are able to perpetuate yourself in office by spending the golden flow of dollars received under the wage and income tax, that you will come into a potential pension of $2,000 a year.

You, Humble John, who as a henchman in this political machine, accuse me of fronting for others—a henchman in a political machine who is used to fronting for others could not appreciate individuality in anyone.

You say that my facts about D. O. Davies were wrong. Don't misquote me and confuse the issue. I never said Mr. Davies was 60. I said IF he were 60, he would receive a pension as stated. Speaking of half truths in your ad, WHY WOULD YOU NOT TELL THE PUBLIC THAT AT THE FIRST MEETING AFTER THE NOVEMBER 1947 ELECTION, ON NOVEMBER 10, 1947, YOU AND YOUR COMRADES AT CITY HALL, AFTER YOU HAD BEEN RETURNED TO OFFICE, DECIDED THAT THE PUBLIC TAXPAYERS SHOULD PAY D. O. DAVIES AND YOU AND YOUR COMRADES A PENSION FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIVES FOR YOUR FAITHFUL SERVICES RENDERED THIS MACHINE. Could it be you saw the handwriting on the wall and with this golden flow of dollars secured under the wage and income tax, you saw a chance to sandbag the public for a pension for yourselves? You speak of 1950 as being so far away. Two months from today, Mr. Davies will draw a pension of $1750 a year. You admit that. What did Mr. Davies pay for this? $105 during 1948 and $105 during 1949. That is a good return for an investment of $210. I STILL SAY THAT I BELIEVE IN ADEQUATE AND REASONABLE PENSIONS FOR EMPLOYEES BUT NOT ONE CENT FOR ELECTED OFFICIALS. BY YOUR SILENCE YOU HAVE ADMITTED THAT THERE IS A JOKER IN THE CITY ORDINANCE ON PENSIONS AND THAT MR. ALEXANDER, ANOTHER RETIRING COUNCILMAN, WILL RECEIVE A PENSION OF $1400 AT THE AGE OF SIXTY AND THAT IF HE CONTINUES TO PAY $105 A YEAR UNTIL HE IS SIXTY, HE WILL RAISE HIS PENSION TO $1750 FOR THE REST OF HIS LIFE, AND AT HIS LIFE EXPECTANCY, IT WILL COST THE CITY $25,095 LESS HIS SMALL CONTRIBUTIONS. IMAGINE BEING ABLE TO RAISE YOUR PENSION WITHOUT BEING ON THE CITY PAYROLL. I see no reason why the taxpayers should reward you and your comrades at City Hall for your services. Your squander mania spending, instead of justifying a reward in the form of pensions, would justify the taxpayers suing you for damages.

Then you branch out, Humble John, as an expert on the County Pension of which you know nothing or deliberately misquote. For your information, if you will examine or have your ghost writer examine the minute books of the county, you will find that the present pension under which the county is operating was ratified, amended, and approved in 1948 at which time Mr. Wimer was no longer a County Commissioner. The present plan is not Mr. Wimer's. There were no dissenting votes on this plan. Let us not confuse the issue.

Do you honestly think that the taxpayers should support you. Humble John, and your comrades at City Hall for the rest of your lives? You, who have spent more money than any governing body in the City of New Castle since its inception.

Then to raise a further confusion without any basis whatsoever for your remarks except a word from you which no one should accept as the truth—you question my ability as a lawyer. Since returning from the Army in 1945, I have had four cases in which you have been a party defendant representing the City of New Castle. The record is now four losses for you, all of which is a matter of record. Mr. Mayor, perhaps you would like to tell the public about that.

You speak of the poor farm as the ultimate resting place for you and your squander mania Council if the taxpayers refuse you a pension. These offices are only part time—many of you maintain interests in profitable businesses, such as plastering and coal.

RUNNING FOR POLITICAL OFFICE IS A MATTER OF PERSONAL CHOICE—WORKING IS A MATTER OF NECESSITY. CITY POLICEMEN MUST WORK AT LEAST 20 YEARS AND REACH THE AGE OF 65 YEARS BEFORE THEY ARE ENTITLED TO A PENSION. ONE POLICEMAN WORKED FOR 22 YEARS ON THE POLICE FORCE, QUIT HIS JOB AND DID NOT GET A PENSION BECAUSE HE WAS NOT 65. THE ELECTED OFFICIAL KNOWS WHAT HIS SALARY IS AND ACCEPTS THE OFFICE WITH THIS KNOWLEDGE. The City and County Pensions are so liberal that if a young man is elected to City office and serves 12 years and then is involuntarily retired, he has a pension payable out of city taxes at the age of 60. This young man can then run for County office and after 10 years, he has another pension payable out of county taxes.

The fact has been mentioned that organizations are waging a fight for pensions for men and women in industry or civil service when they reach 65. If the man or ghost writer chosen to answer my ads know of what he is talking, he will know that a man has to work considerably more than 10 or 12 years in industry or in civil service before they are entitled to a pension and that pension amounts to considerably less than the pensions that will be paid to the City and County elected officials for serving only 10 or 12 years.

Under the American plan of government, regardless of national political philosophy or any political philosophy, the idea is to have rotation in office so that a political machine cannot become so entrenched in the lives of the people that it absolutely controls them. Re-read my ads, Mr. Haven, and you will find that I have never stated that I am against pensions for employees. I am against pensions for elected officials for the very simple reason that office holders will seek to perpetuate themselves in office, and will go to any length to have themselves re-elected in order to stay within a pension plan that is far and above more lucrative than any pension plan for an employee who must work 25 years before he is entitled to the same.

Now you, Humble John, are brazen enough to openly state that you are in favor of a pension for elected officials. THE VOTERS ON NOVEMBER 8 NOW KNOW CLEARLY FROM YOUR AD WHAT ONE OF THE ISSUES IS. ALTHOUGH THE PENSION GRABS WERE PERPETRATED IN DARKNESS, YOU HAVE NOW MADE ONE OF THE ISSUES ON NOVEMBER 8 VERY CLEAR. You, one of the beneficiaries of the grab, are now brazen and shameless enough to defend it. If they were bold enough to do all which we have charged, when you taxpayers were completely in the dark, imagine their boldness when after the issues have been brought to light you again vote them into power. On this I differ from you and your comrades at City Hall. If elected District Attorney, under no circumstances will I join a pension fund for elected officials.

WE STILL SAY, FOR THE GOOD OF LAWRENCE COUNTY, THIS ONE-MAN DOMINATED MACHINE MUST BE DEFEATED.
